SELECT YOUR LPG DISTRIBUTOR SCHEME TO GET ROLLING SOON

An upcoming pilot project in Ranchi, Pune, Chandigarh, Gurgaon and Coimbatore to give customers the right to choose distributors

AIM TO FOSTER HEALTHY COMPETITION

The pilot project is a precursor for a national launch. While booking a refill through a mobile app/customer portal, you will see a list of distributors along with their ratings. You can choose any distributor from the list and rate their service. The idea is to give you a wider choice of distributors, while fostering a healthy competition among dealers to retain their base

GIVING YOU MORE VALUE FOR MONEY

- The drive to offer more value for money comes a year after the govt stopped subsidising refills not covered under Ujjwala Yojana
- The subsidy was nixed after an oil price plunge brought refill cost on a par with subsidised rates of around `600. Though the prices have since crossed `800 a refill, subsidy has not been reinstated

Cabinet shuffle buzz on, Yogi to meet Modi today

Pressure from leadership to allocate plum portfolio to a former PMO man in ministry

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

AMID hectic parleys within the BJP to control damage in Uttar Pradesh after the second wave of the pandemic left a devastating trail, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Thursday called on Union Home Minister Amit Shah. Adityanath is slated to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday, with indications suggesting that the CM may not be able to avoid a state Cabinet reshuffle.

Earlier, BJP chief J P Nadda briefed Modi on the inputs collated by party general secretary (organisation) B L Santhosh and state in-charge Radha Mohan Singh, who had camped in Lucknow for two days. Modi is reportedly closely monitoring the BJP's preparations for the state polls next year, with regular exchange of inputs between him and Nadda as well as RSS leaders.

While the CM had recently termed the buzz of a Cabinet reshuffle as media speculation, sources said he will eventually have to fall in line as the top leadership is keen on a few changes ahead of the February 2022 state polls. A K Sharma, MLC and former official in the Prime Minister's Office (PMO), is widely speculated to get a key portfolio in the state Cabinet.

While the CM hasn't been amenable to the idea so far, a top ranking BJP functionary told this newspaper that Sharma would be given an important assignment in the state. Sharma, incidentally, was in the national capital when Adityanath called on Shah.

Sources said BJP leaders and top RSS functionaries concur that while Adityanath should lead the party in the polls, a few changes in his ministerial team are needed to dispel the perception that he's running a highly centralised administration, against which even the MPs and MLAs reportedly nurse grievances. However, the CM is known to enjoy the patronage of the RSS leadership.

For the record, Adityanath described his meeting with Shah as a courtesy call, saying he sought guidance.

K'taka to get ₹18K cr this fiscal to offset GST compensation shortfall

ANUSHA RAVI @ Bengaluru

TWO weeks after Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, said that the same formula as last year will be adopted this year as well to pay GST compensation to the state, Karnataka has received official communication that Rs 18,109 crore will be passed on to the state from the Union Government's borrowings.

It was estimated that the Centre will have to borrow Rs 1.58 lakh crore this fiscal year and pass it on to the states to offset losses arising out of GST implementation and the revenue slump due to the pandemic. In the last GST council meeting, Karnataka's representative and Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai had urged the Centre to borrow the shortfall amount and pass it on to the states.

For the fiscal year 2020-2021, Karnataka had received Rs 12,407 crore as GST compensation in loans borrowed by the Centre through a special window.

Despite this, the shortfall in revenue under the GST regime was an additional Rs 12,000 crore for Karnataka. This time around too, there are worries that the Rs 18,109 crore, which will be given in several installments spread over the year, may be woefully short.

The 'GST loan', availed by the Centre to make up for states' revenue loss, was in addition to increased borrowing limit that was given to the states to mop up more resources during the pandemic.

US to process student visa applications from June 14

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE US Embassy in India on Thursday said it will restart processing student Visa applications on June 14, bringing much-needed relief to the community worried over the uncertainty surrounding the procedures in the aftermath of the pandemic.

"Student visas remain a top priority and we are making every attempt to facilitate student travel in time for the fall semester. On June 14, we will open limited July and August student visa appointments at posts across India," it said.

Students were advised to visit https://ustraveldocs.com/in to view slot availability and schedule appointments. "Prior to your visa interview, please review your I-20 program start date. Students beginning a new program with a start date on or after August 1 may travel to the US up to 30 days prior to the date and do not need to submit a request for a national interest exception," the embassy said.

The embassy said continuing students may also resume their programmes on or after August 1, and travel 30 days prior to the resumption date. "We are unable to approve expedited requests for Fall 2021 students. If your appointment date results in a potentially late start, please reach out to your school to discuss options," it said.

NIMHANS gets its third interim director, but no full-time head yet

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE game of musical chairs continues at the National Institute of Mental Health & Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS), Bengaluru, with the Centre appointing an interim director for the apex mental health institute for the third time in a row, in the absence of a regular director. With mental health becoming a key and long-term fallout of the pandemic, the absence of a national policy and framework on mental health is being acutely felt. A regular director of NIMHANS at an unprecedented time like this is not just a requirement, "it's a necessity," said sources.

"On the instructions of the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare (MoH&FW), Senior Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, Shekar Sheshadri, has been appointed as the officiating director until his retirement or until the regular director assumes charge of the post," NIMHANS stated in an official release on Thursday. Prof Sheshadri will look into the functions of the director till November 16, 2021 as per the MoH&FW order, dated June 9. P7

From next year, pay ₹24.78 per ATM transaction after free monthly limit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

WITHDRAWING cash from ATMs will be costlier from 1 January 2022 as the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has allowed banks to charge customers up to ₹21 per transaction (plus 18% GST, which makes it ₹24.78). Currently, the cap is ₹20 per transaction plus GST.

The increase, according to the RBI, is "to compensate the banks for the higher interchange fee and given the general escalation in costs".

While the banking regulator has set the upper limit, banks charge different rates within the limit. For example, SBI allows five free transactions in a month. Thereafter, it charges ₹10 plus GST for withdrawing money from its own machines. For non-SBI ATMs, this will be ₹20 plus GST. ICICI Bank levies a flat ₹20 plus GST from the fifth transaction onwards.

The RBI has also increased the interchange charge from ₹15 to ₹17 for each financial transaction and from ₹5 to ₹6 for non-financial transaction.

Interchange charges are the fees a bank pays to another lender when the former's customer uses the latter's ATM to withdraw cash.

According to the RBI, the first five transactions in a month will be free if customers use their own banks' ATMs. They are also eligible for free transactions (including financial and non-financial) from other bank ATMs – three transactions in metro centres and five transactions in non-metros.

These changes are based on the report from a committee formed by the central bank in 2019 to review ATM charges. The committee had submitted its report in July 2020.

The last time the interchange fee for ATM transactions was changed was in August 2012, while the charges payable by customers were last revised in August 2014.

Covid slams brakes on 10-lane NH work

A stretch of the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway in Bidadi | KPN

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

IF you are waiting to zip down the 10-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru highway in 90 minutes, don't rev up yet. The project is all set to miss yet another deadline, this time due to the second wave of Covid-19.

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has taken up the work at an estimated cost of Rs 7,400 crore. The stretch includes nine major bridges, 44 minor bridges and four road overbridges and the project has been divided into two packages - Bengaluru to Nidaghatta in Maddur (56.2 km) and Nidaghatta to Mysuru (60 km). The highway will also have bypasses at Bidadi, Ramanagara, Channapatna, Maddur, Mandya and Srirangapatna.

In March 2014, the Union Ministry of Surface Transport announced expansion of the Bengaluru-Mysuru State Highway (SH-88) into a 10-lane National Highway (NH-275), covering a distance of 117 km from the NICE Road entrance in Bengaluru to the Ring Road junction in Mysuru. The project was supposed to start in 2018 and be completed by 2020 in 30 months' time. But, after much dilly-dallying, the work started only in early 2019 as there were issues including land acquisition, shifting of amenities and legal aspects. The deadline was then revised to 2021. P2

Govt gives back 30pc beds to pvt hospitals

If cases rise again, they have to reserve 50% beds for govt-referred patients; decision on ICU, HDU beds later

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH cases on the decline, the government is contemplating handing over most of the beds under its control, back to the private hospitals. It has, however, said that at least 20 per cent of the general beds will continue to be with the government, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta informed here on Thursday.

He said the final decision will be taken by the government and private hospitals and medical colleges will be informed thereafter. "The decision on ICU and HDU beds is yet to be taken," he added.

Gupta was speaking to the media on the sidelines of the inauguration and inspection of the vaccination camp being held for sports personnel in the city. He added that the beds are being given back on the condition that 50 per cent of the beds be reserved for government-referred patients, if cases rise again.

He added that as the number of deaths has reduced, maintenance work of furnaces in electric crematoria has also started and the temporary crematoria have also been closed down.

On the issue of unlock, he said, "BBMP was also a part of the meeting and the corporation has suggested that the lockdown should be lifted in a phased manner. It could also be reversed, if cases rise again. The final decision of the government is still awaited. The government is also thinking about making testing mandatory for inter-district or inter-state travellers. Already, 60,000- 68,000 tests are being done in the city on a daily basis."

Queue system will make bed allocation transparent

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE new system for bed allocation for Covid patients through a queue was launched on Thursday by Forest and Kannada and Culture and nodal officer for war room Aravind Limbavali.

He said the new system will be implemented in BBMP limits and will be gradually extended to the rest of the state. "The queue system will make bed-booking transparent and effective. It is also well-organised and easily accessible to patients admitted in hospital. Booking of hospital beds will be based on physical triaging and the queue system will register the triage details of all patients before admission," he added.

He said patients will be admitted to hospital or Covid Care Centres based on treatment prescribed at triage centres. The queue number will be given to a patient based on bed requirement, the zone and time of triaging. All of this will resolve confusion.

Patients will be taken off the queue if they are asked to isolate at home. Patients with serious condition, children, pregnant women, nursing mothers, cancer patients and the specially-abled will be admitted immediately to hospital. This will help emergency cases.

Patients in the queue system can use their BU number or SRF IDs to track their realtime queue status on the dashboard, based on the doctors' recommendations, the zone and bed requirement.

Limbavalli said that more than 50 doctors are working every day.

PALIKE SIGNS PACT WITH GAIL FOR BIOGAS SUPPLY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with Gas Authority of India Ltd (GAIL), that will give the company around 300 tonnes per day (TPD) of organic waste to generate compressed bio gas (CBG). The MoU was signed on Wednesday evening.

The company has sought 18 acres of land in North Bengaluru — since their head office is in the same area — to generate and supply CBG. It had placed a proposal before BBMP in April for setting up a 75 TDP plant and will submit a detailed project report to the corporation for final approval. GAIL Gas Chief General Manager Vivek Wathodkar told The New Indian Express that if all goes well, then the plant will be operational and will start supply in another 24 months, provided the land is handed over in another one to two months. The plant will come up at a cost of around Rs 60 crore.

The company has already laid 1,400 km gas pipes in the city through which gas is being supplied to many areas, including Peenya, Singasandra, Yelahanka, HSR Layout and to industries. BBMP has already entered into an agreement with Karnataka Power Corporation Limited (KPCL) for setting up waste-to-energy plant of 11.5 MW in Bidadi. It had also entered into an agreement with Shell Technology Centre in Devanahalli for using mixed waste to generate aviation fuel.

PUC I students can write tests to improve grades

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@ Bengaluru

STUDENTS of first year PUC (batch of 2020-21) can now opt for an assessment to improve their grades. As their examination was cancelled, this open book exam system will add to their minimum marks. The department has already promoted students of PUC I.

The department website will carry links for the model question papers. "The questions are from their course work from the academic year," Snehal R, Director of the department told TNIE.

Students will have to write two papers. One is between June 10 and 20 — a 10-day duration is given to students to write the answers. After a five-day gap, the second set of question papers will be released around June 26, she added.

Students have to send a soft copy of their answer sheets to their teachers. In case they can't send a soft copy, they have to send the answer sheet by post, Snehal said and added that the last resort would be to directly hand over the papers to the teachers. The department looks forward to an objective assessment by July 20.

'Start PU admissions only after SSLC exams, results'

Davangere/Chitradurga: The department of PU education on Thursday warned of taking action against colleges that defy directions and take up admission for PU I courses. In a circular issued, the department said there will be no admission for PU I course till SSLC examinations are held and results are out.

Imported fruits reach city in refrigerated train

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN the first such venture undertaken anywhere in the country, a container train with 1,012 tonnes of imported fresh fruit reached Bengaluru on Thursday morning. Apples, kiwi, apricot and cherries imported from Brazil, Iran and Europe reached the Inland Container Depot at Whitefield, via Mumbai.

The 'Reefer Special' operated by Container Corporation of India Limited (CONCOR), a PSU under Indian Railways, had 44 refrigerated containers with each one bearing 23 tonnes of fruit. They were transported from the rail yard inside Jawaharlal Nehru Port Trust in Mumbai. The special train left the port on Tuesday noon and reached Whitefield at 10:40 am.

The fruits are intended to be distributed across Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh.

Group General Manager, CONCOR, Bengaluru, Anup Dayanand Sadhu told TNIE, "This is the first time that transportation of fresh fruit has been attempted using a Reefer train. There is a huge demand for fruits grown abroad, particularly in South India, and we decided to cater to it."

Leading fresh fruit importer, IG Fresh International Private Limited, had booked the consignment. "CONCOR earned a revenue of Rs 25,21,000 in this maiden run. We will now be bringing one such Reefer special every week," Sadhu said.

200 labourers test positive

THE project hit a hurdle last year due to the lockdown last year and many workers, most of them from North Indian states, Odisha and West Bengal, returning home. This year, though work is going on, Covid-19 cases among the workers have slowed down the progress.

Speaking to 'The New Indian Express', Sridhar, a Project Development Officer with NHAI, said that the work is going on, but at a slow pace. There are around 8,000 workers on the entire stretch of which more than 200 tested positive in the past few months. Some were advised to isolate themselves while some others even left for their hometowns. "We have acquired 98 per cent of the required land, except for a few small stretches. Our concern is the workers," he said.

Official sources said the first package was supposed to be completed by March 2022.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

11th June: One part of the Lunar phase points to declining energy. While this means that we can all ease off the pressure a little, we don't have to. If you want to push ahead with your pet projects, you just have to put in some extra effort. The end-result might be better than if you just coasted along on a wave of cosmic power.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There is no reason to allow partners to set themselves up in opposition to your ideas. You may seize the initiative and give loved ones a vested interest in your plans. At work it may be time to pick up a new skill, especially if you want be in the best position when fresh offers come your way.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The position at work, as in your other public duties, is intense, but pleasant. The emphasis must be on your relationships with colleagues, even though it does seem inevitable that you will have to wait a little longer until you can take the next step along a very positive path.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's because the Moon is now in such an optimistic position that you have to believe that all the changes taking place now are for the better. At the same time you have to accept that not all your ambitions can be put into practice. In fact it might be best if you prioritise your plans.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
This is a time of year when you may indulge your restless nature, especially at work. You may slip out of the limitations which have held you back at home, even those which seemed to be an unavoidable consequence of family life or work. Perhaps nothing is really inevitable.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
It's time to take the initiative. You have been patient, and have been promised that your time will come. Now that the Moon is aligned with your fifth solar house, breathing life into creative regions of your chart, you may stop waiting and set out to make your dreams come true.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may react to any difficulties at home by adopting a more flexible and varied approach. You should encourage relations and people you live with, rather than standing in their way, follow up avenues you'd normally ignore, and link up with new people where necessary.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You don't have to push yourself so hard, so why not take it easy today? Certain of your stars are unlikely to be so relaxed again, at least not for a very long time, so make a strenuous effort to shift all onerous responsibilities to one side, and enjoy yourself!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You are in a mood to keep your head down and avoid trouble. The positive way to use your planetary energies is to look into just what it is that makes friends and partners tick. The truth may be staring you in the face, mind you. But perhaps you're too close to see it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You still seem to be a little more emotional than usual, and therefore liable to take offence, but a generally favourable planetary picture should enable you to accept life as you find it, getting what you want without putting yourself in anyone's debt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's definitely a day for charitable ventures, and you may be asked to help a friend in need. Don't worry about being exploited though. It's just that if you put others' interests first now, yours will take top priority later. That seems like a suitable compromise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If you are typical of your sign then you may have become accustomed to getting the better of business rivals. But right now you will have to take a very different tack, and pay very careful attention to the small print in all agreements, personal ones included.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's an ambitious moment, and there's nothing to be ashamed of in wishing to come first. But with co-operative influences also strong, you'll be wiser to make strenuous efforts to understand just why other people have acted as they have, rather than criticise them.

Party central leaders not discussing change in Karnataka; Promises to hear out grievances of MLAs

CM FOR FULL TERM, SAYS RENUKACHARYA

Davanagere: Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa's political secretary MP Renukacharya on Thursday targeted minister CP Yogeshwar and said the statement by state in-charge Arun Singh on change of guard is quite clear. Addressing the media at Honnali, he said some people are dreaming about changing the cm, but it will not happen in the near future. He also said the BJP government will complete its full term and Yediyurappa will be Cm for the full term. Those who don't have the capacity to win elections and come to power through the backdoor are making these baseless allegations, he added.

HOPING to put a stop to the political drama unfolding in Karnataka over leadership change, BJP general secretary in-charge of Karnataka Arun Singh on Thursday said that BS Yediyurappa was "doing well" as Chief Minister and will continue to hold the post.

Speaking to reporters at his residence in New Delhi, Arun Singh said that Yediyurappa's resignation was not before the party's central leadership. While his statements on change of leadership were monosyllabic answers to questions by reporters, Singh insisted multiple times that the Chief Minister, cabinet ministers and party leaders were doing a good job managing the Covid-19 pandemic.

If any MLA has a grievance, I will go to Karnataka, I will listen to them. They have to work for the party and people's welfare

Arun Singh, BJP in-charge of Karnataka

"Nothing like that," Arun Singh said when asked if talks of leadership change in Karnataka were true. "He is correct. Leaders should say they are bound by the high command's decision and they trust the high command. He hasn't said anything wrong," Singh said, when asked about Yediyurappa claiming he would resign from the Chief Minister's post if asked to by the central leadership.

"Yediyurappa is doing a good job as CM and is working hard. So are the ministers. He will continue," Singh said, when asked if discussions about his resignation were on the table for the party's central leadership. Singh categorically said no party leaders should be making political statements in the media or public.

"If any MLA has a grievance, I will go to Karnataka, I will listen to them. They have to work for the party and people's welfare. I will see about the legislature party meeting," he said, insisting that only one or two persons were making out-of-turn remarks. He also added that murmurs of replacing Nalin Kumar Kateel as Karnataka unit chief were also "imaginary".

CM launches DBT app for fund transfer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister BS Yediyurappa on Thursday launched a DBT mobile application that will help transfer funds directly to beneficiaries of various government schemes. All packages announced by the government during the first and second wave of Covid-19 have been paid through this platform. As announced in the budget, schemes which provide financial assistance in the state will be brought under the DBT platform, a press release from the Chief Minister's Office (CMO) said.

The platform will identify the beneficiary through his or her Aadhaar number and use it as the financial address to directly transfer cash to the Aadhaar-linked bank account.

As many as 120 schemes have been included in this platform.For the past two years, more than Rs 12,000 crore has been directly credited to Aadhaar-linked bank accounts of beneficiaries, the statement read, adding that this application will bring in transparency and prevent fund misuse.

Earlier, it was difficult for beneficiaries to check if their Aadhaar was linked to their bank account, as information regarding this was available only on the UIDAI website. If a bank account wasn't linked to Aadhaar, it was not possible for the citizen to avail cash through the State government's Aadhaar-based payment system. Most of them also do not have information about which of their bank accounts is linked to Aadhaar, making it difficult to know which account is credited with cash benefit. "With the DBT mobile app, all these issues will be resolved," the statement added.

KNOW THE APP

The app can be downloaded from the Google Play Store and registered through e-KYC. The DBT mobile app will also provide scheme-wise information regarding instalments of transferred amount, date of payment, bank account number and UTR number.

RERA lenient, need better regulation of real estate sector, home buyers tell govt

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

TO redress shortcomings and lacunae in the enforcement of the Real Estate Regulatory Authority of India (RERA) Act in Karnataka, a leading organisation for home buyers recently wrote to the principal secretary of the Housing department to take steps to regulate the real estate industry.

The Karnataka unit of the Forum for People's Collective Efforts submitted a seven-page letter to the Chief Secretary as well as all officials at RERA-K. The letter pointed out that there are 1,044 projects in the state which have not registered with RERA, despite it being made mandatory. "It is necessary to take criminal action against promoters who have cheated thousands of home buyers," said M S Shankar, general secretary of the forum. A task force was proposed under RERA earlier, and there is a need to depute police personnel to it to facilitate investigation, he said.

"RERA-K has been found to be much more lenient when handling unscrupulous builders and projects which has made this historical Act feel like a toothless and paper tiger," the letter read.

Data and transparency are missing on all aspects pertaining to appeals, judgment orders and execution, the letter added. Among the other demands made are the need to constitute a separate recovery wing to ensure compensation awarded to home buyers by the RERA court be provided along with interest within 60 days, he said. Tahsildars, revenue inspectors, village accountants and others need to be sensitised on the need to expedite implementation of orders, the letter added.

RERA has given extension of completion deadlines to 235 projects, with another 241 applications under progress (as on May 21), the letter pointed out. "Exceptional circumstances, which prevented completion of the project on time, only warranted an extension," it added. The reason had to be documented in writing to ensure transparency and its stagnant Twitter handle and defunct Facebook page need to be revived, Shankar urged in the letter.

'Power tariff hike a burden on consumers amid Covid'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INDUSTRIES as well as citizens have expressed their displeasure over the revision in power tariff announced by the Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC) saying that it will be a burden on consumers amid a pandemic.

The average increase of 30 paise per unit will burden consumers and will reflect on the production cost and raw material sales like iron, steel, and castings which are primary for all industries, said Perikal M Sundar, president, Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry, Bengaluru.

"The decision during the second wave and lockdown period is a big blow, apart from steep increase in steel and fuel prices...," he said.He pointed out that even as Karnataka has surplus power and was selling it to other states, there were still transmission losses of 3-5%. FKCCI has requested CM B S Yediyurappa to direct KERC to withdraw the order.

Many citizen groups felt that the tariff hike was unwarranted. "Presently, all consumers are facing unprecedented hardship. Also, consumer-end reforms have been ignored. Just because ESCOMS ask for more, KERC fulfils it much to the agony of consumers," said Rajkumar Dugar, convenor, Citizens for Citizens.

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa, who held a virtual meeting with District Commissioners of eight districts, asked them to take stringent measures to bring down Covid positivity rate in their respective districts. He pointed out that positivity rate in Chikkamagaluru is 25 per cent, and in Mysuru it is 22 per cent.

He said the thickly populated districts of Belagavi, Mandya, Mysuru, Tumakuru, Hassan, Dakshina Kannada and the thinly populated districts of Shivamogga and Chikkamagaluru need to work hard to bring down positivity rate, and expressed concern that rates are still high, despite many weeks of lockdown. He asked them to continue with restrictions.

During the second Covid wave, there have been about 65,000 active cases from these districts, and rate of decrease is among the least here, compared to numbers in the rest of the state.

Yediyurappa, who was accompanied by DyCM Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar and ministers Arvind Limbavali and Narayana Gowda, Chief Secretary Ravi Kumar and Additional Chief Secretary Vandita Sharma, instructed the health department to work on effective measures to bring down positivity rate to less than 5 per cent.

He also instructed officials to strictly ensure compliance of preventive measures, and directed them to abide by guidelines in micro containment zone. He asked Deputy Commissioners to intensify Covid-19 testing, especially in Belagavi, and give RT-PCR reports within 24 hours of the test. He said they must conduct about 70 per cent RT-PCR tests and 30 per cent Rapid Antigen Tests in Belagavi and Hassan.

94 TALUKS IN STATE REPORT DOUBLE-DIGIT POSITIVITY RATE

9 taluks see 30% and above TPR; Reverse migration from Bengaluru blamed

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

AT a time when the Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) has recommended to the State Government to ease lockdown only after the test positivity rate (TPR) falls below 5 per cent, 94 taluks in Karnataka have a double-digit TPR. What is more worrying is that 9 of the 94 taluks have a TPR of more than 30 per cent (Raibag in Belagavi, Doddaballapur in Bengaluru Rural, Tarikere and Narasimharajapura in Chikkamagaluru, Channagiri, Harihar and Honnali in Davanagere and Shivamogga and Bhadravathi in Shivamogga).

According to data compiled by the Karnataka State Council of Science and Technology, six taluks have a positivity rate between 25 and 30 per cent (Yelandur in Chamarajanagar, Koppa in Chikkamagaluru, Molakalmuru in Chitradurga, Sullia and Puttur in Dakshina Kannada and Shikaripura in Shivamogga).

TNIE spoke to district health officials of the taluks with 30 per cent or more TPR to understand the reason for high cases. One common reason was migration and movement of people, especially those who returned to their towns and villages from Bengaluru.

Shivamogga District Health Officer (DHO) Dr Rajesh Suragihalli said, "Taluks like Shivamogga, Bhadravathi, Shikaripura and others within town limits have a high positivity rate. In May, 77 villages had high caseload and with containment measures in the past two weeks, this dipped to 23 villages, each having more than 20 cases. We have 490 containment zones now. During testing, we found that 70 per cent of those who tested positive were returnees from Bengaluru in April and May. From them, primary contacts also caught the virus."

Similarly, Bengaluru Rural DHO Dr Thippeswamy said taluks in the district being semi-urban and in proximity to Bengaluru resulted in migration, leading to more cases.

Chikkamagaluru DHO Dr D Umesh also blamed migration from Bengaluru and a few taluks having a high population as reasons for high TPR. "Taluks such as Raibag, Chikkodi, Hukkeri, Athani, Gokak and those close to Maharashtra border are seeing more cases owing to movement of workers, families and marriage parties between the two states," Belagavi DHO Dr Shashikant Muniya said.

When TNIE spoke to Davanagere DHO Dr Nagaraj, he said they have ramped up daily tests to over 6,000 and as a result, more people are testing positive.

AS many as 40 constituencies in Karnataka are set to receive oxygen concentrators and contactless vital parameter monitoring units. C-Camp (Centre for Cellular and Molecular Platforms), a Department of Biotechnology, GoI-supported initiative, on Thursday handed over 200 oxygen concentrators, 200 contactless vital parameters monitoring units, and 15 CPAP+HFNC (continuous positive airway pressure, high flow nasal cannula) units for non-invasive ventilation support to the government of Karnataka.

2,282 black fungus cases in K'taka: Govt to HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State Government on Thursday informed the Karnataka High Court that the state has reported 2,282 cases of mucormycosis (black fungus) till June 9.

According to the statement filed before the special division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Aravind Kumar by Additional Advocate General Dhyan Chinnappa, the government said that of the 2,282 cases, 1,947 are under treatment, 102 are cured, 157 have died and 76 were discharged against medical advise. Among the districts, Bengaluru Urban stands first with 787 cases, followed by Dharwad (202), Belagavi (138) and Kalaburagi (137). The deaths in these districts are 55, 14, 6 and 16, respectively.

Similarly, in response to the directives issued by the court, the Union Government's counsel MN Kumar filed a statement before it stating that 37,980 vials of Amphotericin-B have been allocated to Karnataka from May 11 to June 9, 2021, to treat black fungus. The Centre stated that equitable distribution and allotments are being made to the states in accordance to the proportion of their caseload.

Recording the statements of both the State and Central governments, the court directed the state to ensure adequate beds and drugs to treat mucormycosis cases and ensure that the updated guidelines of ICMR on "Do's and Don'ts" is provided to all the hospitals.

We have God, don't need jab, says village with 0 cases

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

STRANGE are the beliefs that sometimes make people feel immune to any danger. Now, villagers of Dawal Malik in Gadag district are averse to taking the Covid-19 vaccine, for they feel blessed by saint Dawal Malik, after whom the village is named. They revere Dawal Malik as God.

Fortunately, the village — with a population of a little over 500 — has so far reported zero Covid cases.

However, irrespective of the villagers' claim, the health and family welfare department made a bid to convince them to take the jab, but to no avail. The staff of Mulgund primary health centre too have been trying to persuade them.

Gram panchayat staff and health officials explained to the villagers about deaths caused due to ignorance and severity of the second wave of the pandemic. But still, the villagers showed a steely resolve for they believe that no virus can kill them.

Health officials convincing Dawal Malik villagers in Gadag to take the vaccine

"Coronavirus will not enter our village. Even if it enters, it will not be able to kill us because we are living near the God who attracts thousands of devotees. God will protect us from all diseases... hence we are not taking any vaccine. They (government) do not have to worry about us," a resident said.

Mulgund PHC's medical officer said, "We are creating awareness on vaccination in rural areas...but villagers of Dawal Malik are not coming forward. They have some wrong notions about vaccination. We will convince and vaccinate all within a few days."

COURT SEEKS INQUIRY REPORT INTO VIJAYENDRA'S TEMPLE VISIT

The CM's son admitted to his visit to Srikanteshwara temple in reply to notice issued by Mysuru DC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

OBSERVING that allowing political people to enter temples to offer puja when a government order does not permit it, will send wrong signals, the Karnataka High Court on Thursday directed the state government to submit the preliminary inquiry report by the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner into BJP state vice-president BY Vijayendra and his wife's visit to Srikanteshwara temple in Nanjangud on May 18, 2021.

Passing the order, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Suraj Govindaraj said it will take the issue to its logical conclusion, after the DC's report is submitted to court. Vijayendra has admitted to his temple visit, in a reply to a notice on May 29, issued by the Mysuru DC.

COURT STAYS MYSURU MAYORAL ELECTION

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Thursday stayed the election for the Mayor of Mysuru City Corporation that was scheduled to be held on June 11. However, the court said that the authorities can take the decision to hold the election after assessing the Covid situation when the lockdown is lifted. Passing the interim order after hearing a petition filed by Congress corporator Pradeep, Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum issued notice to the Additional Chief Secretary of the Urban Development Department and Commissioner of Mysore City Corporation. The petitioner contended that the guidelines issued under the Disaster Management Act prohibits gathering of people. If elections are held, the corporators and their followers will gather which may lead to spread of Covid-19, he said.

Advocate General (AG) Prabhuling K Navadagi submitted that Vijayendra went to Nanjangud to launch an ambulance service at 8.30 am, and entered the temple to offer puja as it was open. But an impression was created that he went to go to the temple with family, he argued.

Thereafter, the court asked the AG to say whether a citizen can enter a temple, to which he got a negative reply. The court observed that the law applicable to political persons is applicable to all. It sends wrong signals when political persons are allowed to enter temples when there is prohibition, but citizens are not. This truth was found out as he (Vijayendra) admitted he had entered the temple. He need not enter the temple if he went for Covid-related work."

Meanwhile, the court directed counsel to file an affidavit on the photograph of Vijayendra and his wife visiting the temple, attached to the petition. The next hearing is on June 18.

Cong leader gives away veggies, hens

ENS @ Bengaluru

THROWING Covid norms out of the window, people of Shivanagar ward in Rajajinagar flocked to collect groceries and vegetables being distributed by a local Congress leader on Thursday. There was also a live hen for each beneficiary. Former BBMP councillor Vijaykumar and his wife Manjula Vijaykumar, along with local Congress workers, distributed the goods to the needy.

Vijaykumar said that they were working under KPCC president DK Shivakumar's guidance, and had been providing free breakfast and lunch to the poor for one-and-half months.

Vijaykumar said they distributed 15-18 kg of vegetables and the hen was initially not part of the package. But a youth who had a poultry farm approached him for financial help. "Instead of giving him money, we procured 1.2 tonnes of fowl — around 600 birds — and distributed them," he stated.

One local BJP worker said that the crowd was because of the bird. To which Vijayakumar said, "People were at least wearing masks. We did not announce that hens were being given, or more people would have have come."

Deadly virus outbreak in TN zoo, 2 lions +ve

Dead lioness Neela among those positive for highly-contagious Canine Distemper Virus in Vandalur Zoo

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@ Chennai

AFTER Covid-19, the endangered Asiatic lions in the famous Arignar Anna Zoological Park (AAZP) are faced with Canine Distemper Virus (CDV) scare. One lion and the deceased young lioness Neela were tested positive for the highly contagious CDV. Only a few years back, a CDV outbreak in the Gir forest located in Gujarat caused unprecedented casualty of Asiatic lions, triggering a crisis of sorts.

The latest reports from ICAR-Indian Veterinary Research Institute (ICAR-IVRI), Bareilly, reveal that a 19-year-old lion, Ragave, was tested positive for CDV, however he tested negative for Covid. Environment secretary Supriya Sahu, who is closely monitoring the situation, told Express that Ragave was healthy and active with a normal appetite. "He has been isolated and kept under observation. An expert team from Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University (TANUVAS) is on the spot."

The official said the sample of lioness Neela, which was under examination at IVRI tested positive for CDV. Neela was earlier tested positive for Covid-19 and became the first animal to have succumbed to the disease in the country. "The samples lifted from four tigers that were sent for coronavirus testing turned negative," she said.

For representation only

Vandalur Zoo director Debasis Jana said, "The IVRI was asked to test 7 samples for SARS-CoV-2 only, but it has incidentally tested the samples for comorbidities also and have found the samples of two lions Neela (dead) and Ragave (Covid negative) as positive for CDV. Ragave is healthy and active."

QS ranking: IISc, IIMB not on the same page

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TWO institutes of national importance based out of the city — Indian Institute of Management and Indian Institute of Science — responded quite differently to the Quacquarelli Symonds (QS) World University Rankings 2021, which released on Wednesday.

With IIM Bangalore ranking first in India for its Business & Management Studies, Director Rishikesh T Krishanan said, "This is certainly a huge achievement for IIMB, and I want to extend my gratitude to everyone who made this possible. We have scored well in Academic Reputation and H-Index Citation parameters and this reflects on our efforts in ensuring academic excellence in the subject and research capabilities in the domain. I would also like to congratulate all other institutions recognised by QS Ranking."

> Rishikesh T Krishanan, Business & Management Studies, Director

Meanwhile, the office of the Director, IISc in a reply to Express, said that as a matter of policy, IISc does not comment on ranking exercises by non-academic and non-governmental bodies. In this spirit, IISc has no comment on the methodology used by QS on this, or any other, metric.

"Having said that, it is worth mentioning some factors that have enabled IISc to excel, leading to such recognitions: high-quality basic and applied research conducted by our faculty members and students, generous support from the Ministry of Education under its Institute of Eminence programme, and various interdisciplinary initiatives undertaken by IISc (such as autonomous systems, artificial intelligence, and quantum technologies) in line with the New Education Policy. We are also thankful to various other government agencies, alumni, corporates and philanthropists for their continued support," they said.

IISc ranked number one on the Citations per Faculty (CPF) indicator, which put it in the league with Princeton, Havard, and even MIT. Its overall ranking, however, had dropped by one from 185 to 186 this year.

K'taka sugar factories owe cane farmers ₹450cr

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

EVEN as lakhs of sugarcane growers from across the state supplied their produce in abundance to all the 64 sugar factories in the state during the last crushing season (from July, 2020 to June 2021), the factories are yet to clear their pending bills to the tune of Rs 450 crore. The factories haven't cleared the bills even after knowing that the latter are in a crisis due to the pandemic for the last one year.

Several sugarcane leaders have urged the government to help release all their pending dues and said that the government should seize all the sugar produced by factories that haven't cleared pending dues, and auction it immediately.

A sugarcane grower and leader Shashikant Joshi said, "As per the Sugarcane Control Act of 1966, the factories must settle the bills within 14 days of receiving the sugarcane in the factories. In case there is any delay in the payment, the factories are supposed to clear the bills along with a 15 per cent rate of interest on the total bill."

As per the government records, the factories owed Rs 450 crore to the cane growers as on May 31 this year. Among the factories which owed huge bills to the growers include Athani Sugars (₹40 crore), Satish Sugars (₹31 crore), Belgaum Sugars (₹19 crore), Malaprabha Sugar Factory (₹24 crore), Bilagi Sugar Mill (₹24 crore), Godhavari Sugars Ltd (₹19 crore), Nirani Sugars Ltd (₹28 crore), Prabhulingeshwara Sugars (₹22 crore), Shri Sai Priya Sugars Ltd (₹48 crore), Bhalkeshwar Sugars Ltd (₹17 crore), Bidar Kissan Shakkar Karkhana Ltd (₹18 crore), Shri Basaveshwara Sugars Ltd (₹43 crore), Shree Bhimashankar Sahakari Sakkare Karkhane Niyamit (₹20 crore), Coregreen Sugar and Fuels (₹33 crore).

The total arrears from Belagavi district where 25 sugar factories produce a major chunk of sugar produced in the entire state, is Rs 149 crore as of now for the above said crushing season. According to sources, 25 sugar factories from Belagavi crushed about 1.80 crore metric tonnes of cane out of the total of 4 crore tonnes crushed in all in the state for the last season.

Shashikant said instead of helping the growers, the government too had been in favour of the factory management, he added. Several growers, including Shivangouda Patil from Belagavi object to the shifting of the office of Sugar Commissioner from Belagavi to Bengaluru recently. "As North Karnataka's factories crush the major portion of cane and produce sugar in large quantities, the government should ensure that the office operates from North Karnataka and not Bengaluru," he added.

Recently, Deputy Chief Minister Govind Karjol said in Belagavi that he would get information about the pending dues and ask the DCs to issue directions to all the factories to clear it.

Jagan seeks Shah nod for HC in Kurnool

ENS @Vijayawada

CHIEF Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Thursday urged Union Home Minister Amit Shah to issue a renotification shifting the Andhra Pradesh High Court to Kurnool, grant special status to the State and also sought approvals for the 13 proposed new medical colleges among others.

The Chief Minister, who flew to New Delhi in the afternoon, had a hectic schedule throughout the day. After holding parleys with Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat and Environment Minister Prakash Javadekar and Niti Aayog Vice-Chairman Rajiv Kumar, he drove to the residence of Amit Shah late in the night and held talks with him for one-and-a-half hours.

During the meeting, Jagan explained to him as to why the decision was taken to shift the high court to Kurnool and recalled that the State Assembly had passed the three capitals bill in August last year to ensure decentralised administration and development. In this context, he reminded Shah that the BJP too had included the demand for high court in Kurnool in its 2019 election manifesto.

He also reiterated the demand for grant of special status as that alone could help the State recover from the loss it had suffered following the creation of Telangana. To bring affordable and quality healthcare to the people, Jagan informed the Home Minister, that his government was establishing 13 new medical colleges and requested him to expedite approvals for them. Permissions had been granted to three already, he said and also sought financial assistance to set up the colleges.

AIADMK can't be separated from me, says Sasikala

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE @ Chennai

THE AIADMK legislature party is scheduled to meet on June 14 to elect its deputy leader and whip in the State Assembly. The meeting assumes significance as it is set to take place amid the release of audio recordings of VK Sasikala interacting with AIADMK functionaries almost on a daily basis, assuring them that she would soon return to politics.

Yet another recording of Sasikala interacting with an AIADMK functionary was released on Thursday, in which she said the party cannot be separated from her. In the clip, Sasikala, for the first time, explicitly named the AIADMK. In the previous recordings she had merely referred to the 'katchi' (party). Earlier, AIADMK leader, Edappadi K Palaniswami, had brushed aside the issue, saying Sasikala may have been referring to her return to the AMMK, the party run by TTV Dhinakaran. Meanwhile, the poster war between supporters of AIADMK's top leaders, Palaniswami and O Panneerselvam, continued in Tirunelveli district. On Thursday, in response to posters in favour of Panneerselvam, supporters of Palaniswami put up posters hailing Palaniswami's election as the leader of the Opposition. Though Palaniswami was elected as the leader of the legislature party a month ago, the election of the deputy leader and whip has been delayed, apparently due to differences of opinion between Palaniswami and Panneerselvam.

8 people applied for NIMHANS director post

PROF Shekar Sheshadri has taken over charge from the senior-most faculty member and Senior Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, Dr Satish Chandra Girimaji, who was appointed as the officiating director upon the superannuation of Senior Professor of Epidemiology, Dr G Gururaj, on April 13, after he attained the age of 65. The latter was appointed as interim director of NIMHANS in December last year after the retirement of the then Director, Dr B N Gangadhar. The MoH&FW had appointed Head of Neurology, All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi, Prof M V Padma Srivastava, and she was to assume charge on February 1, but her appointment did not come through because of some technical issues.

The director, NIMHANS, is appointed for a period of five years by the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet (ACC) on the recommendations made by the search committee, which are vetted by the Union Health Ministry. According to sources, the ACC is yet to meet and formally announce the appointment of the new director. The director's post became an open selection post after 2012 when NIMHANS was made an Institute of National Importance (INI) by Parliament.

Eight candidates had applied for the director's post after it had fallen vacant with the superannuation of the then director Gangadhar.

Those who had applied for the director's post included the Head of Department (HoD), Psychiatry, Dr Prathima Murthy, former HoD, Psychiatry Dr Prabha Chandra, former HoDs, Neurology, Dr Nalini and Dr Pramod Pal and former HoD, Neurosurgery, Dr Malla Bhaskara Rao. Three candidates from outside NIMHANS, including Dr Padma, had applied for the top post after the Health Ministry advertised for the post in March last year. The interview was conducted virtually by Union Health Minister Dr Harsh Vardhan and Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan.

'Socialism' and 'Mamta Banerjee' to form matrimonial alliance

SABARI M @ Salem

SOME people breathe, live, and speak the ideology that they hold so dear to their hearts. But only the rarest of the rare go to the extent of naming their children after their ideology (an -ism; not the ideologues). In a simple house wedding, Mr Socialism will marry Ms Mamta Banerjee at Amani Kondalampatti, in Salem, on Sunday. Isn't it ironical, and yet adorable, to see the two names of arch rivals in West Bengal coming together for a new journey in Tamil Nadu? The marriage function will be graced by CPI State Secretary, R Mutharasan, and deputy secretary, K Subbarayan. The marriage invitation of Socialism and Mamta has been doing rounds on social media, raising eyebrows, even triggering laugher, and evoking awe among the public.

The groom's father, Comrade Mohan (52) is the Salem district secretary of the Communist Party of India (CPI). Comrade Mohan became famous among the people in the locality after he contested from Veerapandi Assembly constituency in the 2016 elections on behalf of the People Welfare Alliance.

Speaking to TNIE, Comrade Mohan said, "My father and grandfather are communists. From the age of 18, I started participating in protests which were organised by CPI. Later, I became a full-time worker of the party. When the Soviet Union disintegrated, many said that Communism was dead. It caused anger in me and even before my marriage, I had planned to name my son and daughter with names that reflected the ideology."

He continued, "It is because, when others call my sons or daughters by the name, I feel the ideology, will live long. I named my three sons — Communism, Leninism, and Socialism respectively. Most of our Comrades named their sons after Lenin and Marx. But, I don't know whether they are named like Socialism or Marxism."

Comrade Mohan added, "During their school days, my sons experienced some humiliation due to their names and many thought they were Christians. But, after they entered college, their names attracted attention. What unites them all is that all three of them work for the CPI."

IT'S TIME FOR AT LEAST A PHASED UNLOCK IN KERALA

Lockdowns are speed breakers that can help control the pace of spread of an epidemic. It's not a magic cure that our governments want it to be. Today, Kerala will enter the 35th day of lockdown, imposed to tackle the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic, and there's no certainty as to when the unlocking process will begin. As the second wave became apparent, health experts demanded that the state be locked down for two weeks in the second half of April as they predicted the peak transmission period to be around the third week of the month. It was also predicted that the pandemic wave will peak with the maximum number of active cases in the second week of May and the decline would start thereafter. The data now available correlates with the predictions. The peak of transmission, according to experts, was around April 28 while the peak of the disease was on May 12 when 43,529 new cases were reported, along with a record TPR of 29.7%.

The imposition of lockdown was delayed up to May 8, but there's no denying that it did help the government manage the situation as most of the districts had run out of ICU and ventilator beds by then. Things became better in the coming days with the demand for hospital beds declining steadily. The average TPR for the last seven days is 14.38% and the active caseload has come down to 1,35,298 from the high of 4,42,194 (May 14). Despite the steady improvement in parameters, the government has chosen to continue with the lockdown. If the relatively high TPR is the reason, the blame rests solely on the government's inconsistent testing strategy. From the peak of 1.6 lakh tests a day, the daily average has fallen to 1.1 lakh, and there's no justification for reducing tests when the aim is to bring down the TPR. It must make amends on that front.

Prolonging the lockdown is not a viable strategy. While all sectors are suffering, the crippling restrictions have started affecting lives beyond reasonable limits. Livelihood is as important as life. The government, while adopting other options available to rein in the contagion, must start unlocking, at least in a phased manner.

IMPROVING MEDICAL INFRA IN T'GANA

Covid-19 has been a harsh teacher. It has shaken the Telangana government out of complacency. As a possible third wave could strike anytime, the government is trying to take short-term and long-term measures to improve medical infrastructure. It has made a beginning by opening 19 diagnostic centres and announcing the setting up of seven more medical colleges in districts and an equal number of nursing colleges affiliated to them. The pandemic has reminded the government that it cannot leave people to the mercy of the predatory private health sector. The Cabinet, at its recent meeting, decided to spend a whopping ₹10,000 crore on improving medical infrastructure in the public sector and sent a team to Sri Lanka to study the best practices employed in tackling Covid.

As the CM delved deep into the labyrinth of issues dogging the medical sector at the Cabinet meeting, he became painfully aware that only a surgical treatment would work as many district-level hospitals do not even have facilities like dialysis. Apart from fortifying the existing health facilities such as Gandhi Hospital, Nizam's Institute of Medical Sciences and Telangana Institute of Medical Sciences, the government has decided to upgrade the Mahatma Gandhi Memorial Hospital in Warangal into a super-speciality one. The All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) located on the highway between Hyderabad and Warangal will be requiring support from both the state and the Centre as it has a long way to go.

The doctors in the districts did well even under the tough circumstances. The Gandhi Hospital in Hyderabad, which took the most load, put up a good performance despite the fact that all dialysis patients in the state are sent there. The recovery rate in the second wave was a very impressive 95.34%. If the government can walk the talk by improving facilities in the near term in hospitals apart from laying a strong foundation for the long term, even the third wave may not be all that unnerving. The immediate need is to increase the number of doctors, facilities and support staff at district-level hospitals as any laxity would have a direct impact on the quality of medical care.

Jitin took the plunge as he saw no future for the Congress in UP politics. The choice was between oblivion and self-revival. Not between ideology and power, as is all-too-easily posited

GOING TO MANDIR? BRING SOME PRASAD

SANTWANA BHATTACHARYA

Resident Editor, Karnataka, The New Indian Express

AMIT BANDRE

Jitin Prasada must be feeling reasonably chuffed. He's had a relaunch that a million dollar advertising blitzkrieg could not have given him. Nor even years of ground work. All courtesy TV news channels and the commentariat that went on an overdrive to showcase the BJP's new 'prized catch'. Never mind if it was only Piyush Goyal who did the honours of welcoming Jitin to the saffron fold.

Thanks to the brouhaha that followed, Jitin is now the most prominent Brahmin face of UP politics, which may just about revive his nosediving career and renew his brand equity. As a Congress politician from UP, he could never have got the footage he consumed in the last two days. But make no mistake, half of Jitin's political capital is derived from his past positioning as a Congress dynast, as an elite new-gen 'leader' with a privileged life and education—and most of all, proximity to the prince-in-waiting.

In fact, that's the reason why he became the day's big breaking news—or why he had become the youngest minister in UPA-I all those years ago, almost as soon as he had won the Lok Sabha seat from his home turf of Shahjahanpur in UP in 2004. He didn't even have to wait for his turn to come, like many others who were not part of Rahul Gandhi's close circle had to.

However, Jitin, the pleasant and 'nice guy', is no Jyotiraditya Scindia, with an influence base and enough MLAs to pull down a government. Nor has he shown any fire in the belly to fight it out in the dust of state politics, like a Sachin Pilot. Jitin's is a safe bet politics, and the stakes he's trying to safeguard by switching camps are built around that.

"It was not easy... it was a hard decision, given my family's three-generation-long association with the Congress," is how he puts it. Well, it wasn't such a hard decision either, one for which he may have spent the last week in tormented cogitation. He has in fact been trying to do this for the last two years. His previous attempt was thwarted by none other than Rahul himself. (Though there's another version which says it was Jyotiraditya who had persuaded him to stay back, on Priyanka's bidding!)

Now, the rumour is he has been on the BJP's waiting list for the past six months. Waiting for the right time to strike. And this time, he neither informed the Gandhis nor consulted his G-23 (now 22) seniors. He just took the plunge. The simple reason being, he saw no future for the Congress in UP politics and therefore for himself. The choice was between oblivion and self-revival. Not between ideology and power, as is all-too-easily posited. If he's inducted into the Yogi Adityanath government via the MLC route, it would be an add-on. That would be an additional badge as he seeks to contest or campaign in the next elections, eight months away, as the BJP's newly minted Brahmin face.

Jitin's quite comfortable ploughing the Prasada family legacy, for whatever it is worth now, in the Terai region of the vast state of UP—his father Jitendra Prasada had been felled by the Congress palace when he once, in a rare fit of ambition, dared to contest against Sonia Gandhi for the party president's post! Nor has he any qualms about peddling his privileged caste for political benefits. His babalog politics doesn't represent any new idea. Even while he was in the Congress, he had fallen back on his caste as his last bit of currency—doing yatras, video conferences and listening to grievances from poorer Brahmins, especially the youth, who were not finding enough space in Yogi's "Thakur raj".

> But why did the BJP need a Jitin Prasada, a politician from the Congress with little mass base, to shore up its fortunes in UP? The sheer onslaught of the Covid second wave and Yogi's high-handed way of functioning, it seems, has created a dent in the armour.

His caste and legacy will now come of use within the BJP's own fluid power matrix. But they were not good enough to ensure any political longevity via the Congress, which has little brand value in UP politics. Jitin, it seems, was quite demoralised after having lost his deposit in the last Lok Sabha election from Dhaurahra, and blamed Rahul and Priyanka for it. The Congress had put up two minority candidates in the adjoining Sitapur and Lakhimpur Kheri constituencies, which Jitin felt polarised votes in favour of the BJP's Kurmi candidate, Rekha Verma. The Congress, which has a penchant for creating trouble for itself (like it's doing in Punjab now), did not make things any easier for Jitin thereafter. First, they made a person openly hostile to him the district president. And then sent him off to Bengal to add another humiliating loss for the party on his CV.

But why did the BJP need a Jitin Prasada, a Doon school-SRCC byproduct, a perfumed Brahmin face from the Congress with little mass base, to shore up its fortunes in UP? Is Modi, Yogi and Mandir falling short? The sheer onslaught of the Covid second wave and Yogi's high-handed way of functioning, it seems, has created a dent in the armour. It has left the BJP karyakarta demoralised, MLAs restive and ministers upset. Even its devoted vote banks are not too happy, as central fact-finders found to their dismay. The excess of Thakur assertion has also left the Brahmins and other dominant castes feeling cornered. It's a state where no one really has prospered without engineering an alliance with the 'opinion-making class'—whether it's Mayawati or Akhilesh Yadav. Or the Congress of yore or the BJP now. Along with EBC, OBC and Ram, it needs Parasuram to retain the heart of the heartland, without which ruling India could become a dream. If Jitin's tweets are anything to go by, he's aiming to be that unlikely Parasuram.

FREE VAX TO ALL A GAME CHANGER IN INDIA'S COVID FIGHT

DR TAMILISAI SOUNDARARAJAN

Governor of Telangana and Lt Governor of Puducherry

The Central government's decision to offer free vaccination to all those above 18 years of age in India is going to be a game changer. This is a massive step in our fight against the Covid-19 pandemic, which was described as 'the century's worst calamity' by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

The decision by the Centre to buy 75% of vaccine doses produced in the country and supply the same free of cost to states is a decisive move that is likely to streamline and expedite vaccination. And not surprisingly, many states and CMs have heartily welcomed the announcement made by the PM through his address to the nation on Monday .

The free vaccination will begin from June 21 across the country coinciding with International Yoga Day celebrations. In the process, states will not have to bear even a rupee for the procurement of vaccine doses from the makers. This will save the already overburdened finances of many states.

Competing with many developed countries, India has already administered a massive 23 crore doses since it began the vaccination process on January 16. We are the third country in the world to administer so many doses among its population, next only to China and the US. Given the pace of the vaccination, it is expected that we will soon overtake the US that has administered a total of 33 crore doses till now.

A total of 24.06 crore vaccine doses have been provided to the states. And the number of doses with the states is 1.49 crore as on June 7. It is a testimony to the pace of the vaccination in the country that we have been administering not less than 20 lakh doses a day in the recent past. India is steadily increasing the count of daily vaccination doses. It administered a massive 36.5 lakh doses on June 4.

With the expected streamlining of vaccine distribution among states due to the centralised procurement, and with financial and logistics support from the Centre, the number of daily vaccine doses administered will be around 50 lakh in the near future.

The prime minister pointed out in his address that at least seven different makers are producing vaccines in our country and three more candidates are in the final phase of trials. If all these are available in the next couple of months, the supplies will be improved manifold.

The prime minister constituted the Vaccine Task Force in April last year and expedited the process, due to which we were able to come out with two Made-in-India vaccines in a short period of time. Earlier, it took decades for us to get the vaccines developed in other countries.

This all did not start overnight. The Central government had begun a massive increase in vaccine production and inoculation as early as in 2014 for the universal immunisation programme. This successfully took vaccination coverage from 60% in 2014 to 90% in the next five to six years under the Mission Indradhanush programme. Now the Central government has launched the Intensified Mission Indradhanush (IMI) 3.0 so as to ensure that no child or pregnant woman will be left unprotected against vaccine-preventable diseases in India.

> The Central government's decision to provide jabs free of cost to states will expedite vaccination. The move to extend the supply of free ration to 80 crore people is also a major step with the huge food subsidy bill of around ₹25,000 crore being borne by the Centre

Living true to its reputation as the world's biggest vaccine maker, India is ramping up its Covid jab production too. Leaving no stone unturned, the Central government is extending financial support to some other vaccine makers to expedite trials and come out with safe and effective vaccines. Giving top priority to vaccinating all its eligible population, the Centre has allocated a massive ₹35,000 crore in its Budget for the programme. Talks with major global vaccine producers are also in the final stages and huge stocks will arrive in our country soon.

Russia-based vaccine makers have already supplied 30 lakh doses of Sputnik V to India. The Hyderabad-based Dr. Reddy's Laboratories has received the supplies and the rollout has already begun. Dr. Reddy's has a pact with the Russian vaccine maker to sell the first 250 million vials of Sputnik V to our nation.

Similarly, the Centre is extending all possible help and financial support for vaccine makers to come out with jabs for children. This assumes importance so as to protect the children from the feared third wave. The support to research on a nasal vaccine is a crucial step in inoculating children against Covid.

It is important to remember that the prioritised vaccination to doctors and other healthcare workers proved vital in saving our medical fraternity and helped their fight against the deadly second wave. The prioritisation of vaccine doses to people above 45 years and those with comorbidities has also helped save those vulnerable sections.

As vaccine procurement and supplies are to get streamlined from June 21, it is likely that our country will move ahead towards its goal to vaccinate at least 80% of the eligible population by the end of this year.

Saving millions from hunger:

Another important decision by the prime minister—to extend the supply of free ration to 80 crore people in the country through Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana up to Deepavali (Nov 2021)—is also a major step. No poor family, especially the 79.88 crore existing beneficiaries under the National Food Security Act, will suffer due to non-availability of food grains. A massive 80 lakh tonnes of food grains will be distributed under the scheme. It is a major welfare initiative with a huge food subsidy bill of around ₹25,000 crore being borne by the Centre.

Till we achieve the vaccination target, it is important for people to follow Covid-appropriate behaviour to contain virus spread. It is also important to overcome vaccine hesitancy. India has successfully shown the world its strong collective resolve to fight the pandemic earlier. Now its collective resolve and effort continue to help in the battle.

Cong must introspect

Former Union minister Jitin Prasada did a Jyotiraditya Scindia by crossing over to the BJP. It's time the Congress did an honest soul-searching as to why prominent leaders become disgruntled and frustrated and ultimately join other political organisations, lest the party becomes history prematurely.

Federer decision justified

This is with reference to Why Fed deserves benefit of doubt (June 10). Roger Federer or for that matter anybody else has the right to decide whether they should continue playing in a particular tournament or not. Federer epitomises dignity in a sportsperson and considering he is nearing 40 and has had two knee operations in the recent past, his decision is perfectly justified.

No place for ideology

Before the Assembly elections in West Bengal, many prominent TMC leaders joined the BJP believing that it would come to power. Now these turncoats are knocking at the doors of the TMC to further their political fortunes. For these self-seeking politicians, there is no place for ideology.

Hold China responsible

The eminent virologist Dr Jacob John's remarks about China's Covid vaccine add more credence to the lab leak theory. In addition, there were well-researched articles by S Gurumurthy and others published in this newspaper. It is imperative for all other nations to hold China responsible for the pandemic and make it pay a huge compensation. Humanity should be saved from China's avarice.

Unique mirror from Kerala

This is with reference to the article India's magnificent tradition of metal works (June 5). Even a short essay doesn't look complete without the mention of Aranmula kannadi, a variety of mirror made of metal alloys in Kerala's Aranmula. While glass mirrors reflect from a secondary surface at the back, this mirror reflects from its polished front surface without loss of clarity. Though metal mirrors were in use in places like Egypt and Baghdad and other parts of the world, Aranmula kannadi is unique in its method of creation and beauty. The processes are considered to be secret and confined to a few families, with knowledge passed down through generations. Perhaps, this was originally part of a wider Pampa Valley civilisation, closely linked to the Parthasarathy temple in the village.

Madurai library befitting

Many thanks to Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin for his recent announcement that a state-of-the-art library would be built in Madurai in memory of his late father and former CM of the state, M Karunanidhi, who was known for his contributions to Tamil literature. It is all the more befitting as this ancient town promoted the language through the Tamil Sangam or academy.

Democracy undermined

This is with reference to It's time to end the concept of Union territories (June 6). Apart from the unprecedented moves in Lakshadweep, the chaos in Puducherry for the past several years was also a perfect illustration of how democracy is undermined in Union territories. A full-fledged statehood will bring the administration closer to the people, thereby strengthening democracy.

Vaccine Politics: The Opposition's Mind Game with India! Stay away from any kind of rumours, apprehensions and confusion

UP CM in Delhi to meet BJP brass, aides back home air grievances to central team

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

THE recent Lucknow visit of BJP national general secretary (organisation) BL Santosh and the outcome of his deliberations with state party functionaries, ministers and legislators is likely to figure prominently during Uttar Pradesh CM Yogi Adityanath's meetings with top leaders in New Delhi.

A report summing up the deliberations is believed to have been submitted by Santosh to the party's national leadership. According to insiders, party functionaries who met the central leaders, had voiced concern over the dominance of select bureaucrats in governance, which has resulted in a large number of MLAs not getting concerns of their areas addressed by their own government.

Importantly, Santosh and the party's UP in-charge Radha Mohan Singh, during their recent Lucknow visit, had patiently heard state party leaders, including organisation functionaries, senior ministers and MLAs to take stock of the situation on ground ahead of next year's Assembly polls.

They told the leaders from Delhi that with work in their areas not done by their own government, many MLAs have told party bosses about the difficulty they would face going back to the voters before the polls with unfulfilled promises.

The deliberations during the recent visit by Santosh had also taken stock of the party's not so encouraging performance in the recently held panchayat polls. If informed sources are to be believed, then the party-supported candidates performed badly in 50-plus assembly segments, which presently have BJP MLAs.

The CM met Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday and is likely to meet BJP's national president JP Nadda and PM Narendra Modi on Friday. Before leaving for Delhi, the CM had a meeting with state party president Swatantra Deo Singh and state party general secretary (organisation) Sunil Bansal. The meeting happened just a few hours after ex-Union minister and Congress leader Jitin Prasada joined the BJP in Delhi.

After Modi-Thackeray meet, Raut praises PM

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

No threat to MVA, assures Pawar

Sharad Pawar said there is nothing to worry about the government in Maharashtra. "People are happy with Maha Vikas Aghadi and its performance. No one talks about breaking the alliance," said the NCF chief.

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi meeting Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray's in Delhi two days ago set the political circle abuzz of two old allies patching up after falling out in November, 2019.

Two days after the meeting, fierce critic of BJP and Modi, Shiv Sena Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Raut had a word of praise for the prime minister. Raut is close to Thackeray .

"Prime Minister Narendra Modi is the top leader of the country and his party. BJP has been in power for the last seven years because of Narendra Modi," Raut said on Thursday. He was quick to add, though, that not much should be read much in the meeting of Modi and Thackeray.

He said Thackeray was in Delhi with Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and Congress minister Ashok Chavan to resolve Maratha reservation and other issues. "We are politically not together with BJP but the personal equation between two leaders is intact. Politics and personal relations are different things," he said.

Shiv Sena ended its 30-year alliance with BJP in 2019 following disputes over sharing important positions in the ministry and equal numbers of ministers. Sena claimed that BJP agreed to a 50:50 formula and later refused to honour that. Breaking away from the NDA, Thackeray criticised Devendra Fadnavis and Amit Shah for not keeping their word. But he did not say anything against Modi.

With speculations of two old allies coming together doing the rounds, NCP chief Sharad Pawar on his party's 22-year anniversary reminded Thackeray that his late father Balasaheb Thackeray had supported Indira Gandhi against Janta Party to keep his promise.

Pawar said NCP and Shiv Sena will not only survive five years in government, but they will also contest Lok Sabha and state Assembly elections together. "There are a lot of speculations and rumours about the Thackeray government lasting five years. However, we are not only confident about the survival of Maha Vikas Aghadi under the leadership of Uddhav Thackeray, but the NCP and Shiv Sena will also contest Lok Sabha and state elections together. This government is doing great work for the people," he said.

Pawar said there is no need to pay attention to speculations after a separate one-on-one meeting between Modi and Thackeray. "I have been observing Sena for the last several years. Once Balasaheb had given his word to Indira Gandhi on not contesting elections and extending support to Congress. Babasaheb Thackeray did not change his word despite a lot of pressure and political stakes. Shiv Sena means trust," said Pawar.

BJP sees red in posters on Raje and Dushyant not visiting constituencies

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A day ago, photo of Rajasthan's former CM Vasundhara Raje was found missing on posters at the BJP headquarters in Jaipur. On Thursday, fresh posters were seen stuck on the walls in Jhalwar city, which said Raje and her MP son Dushyant Singh are hardly seen in their constituencies. Although these posters were removed, the developments have intensified politics in Raje's bastion.

The posters in Jhalwar were pasted by unidentified people on Wednesday night. Dushyant is an MP from Jhalawar-Baran Lok Sabha constituency. Raje is an MLA from Jhalrapatan Assembly in Jhalawar district. After hearing about the posters, BJP workers and local council employees reached the spot and tore them off. Till late on Thursday, no police case had been registered.

Presumably because of Covid-19 restrictions, Raje has not visited her constituency for a long time. Dushyant was seen in the area during municipal elections a few months ago. Raje supporters say she is in touch with the people of her constituency all along and working for their welfare.

BJP district president Sanjay Jain said: "Whoever has done this petty act, it is very disgusting. Former CM Vasundhara Raje and MP Dushyant Singh are constantly in touch with the people of Jhalawar district. Even during the Corona period, they interacted with BJP workers. They have been in touch with top officials of the district administration through virtual communication."

Vasundhara Raje's position in state BJP has become a subject of discussion

Jain said Dushyant had also caugh the Corona-19 infection. After that, he has been holding virtual meetings with party workers of the district along with former CM Raje and taking information about problems in this area.

ATtough Raje is the BJP vice-president at the national level , she and her supporters have been sidelined from state politics for a long time. There is a tussle for supremacy between Raje and the RSS faction led by state party president Satish Poonia.

Cong tussle causes fissure

Persistent tussle between Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot and his former deputy Sachin Pilot has led to fissures in the former royal family of Bharatpur. Family disputes as well as their opposite political leanings have pitted the father and son against each other.

Former minister and MLA from the Deeg-Kumher constituency Vishvendra Singh, a close aide of Pilot, in a U-turn has said that he supports both Gehlot and Pilot. Vishvendra's son and his wife are opposed to leaving the Pilot camp. Their son, Anirudh, has opposed his father without naming him.

Vishvendra had supported Pilot last year when the latter had rebelled, eventually leading to both being sacked. However Vishwendra now has said: "I am with Ashok Gehlot as he has been made CM by Congress chief Sonia Gandhi. I am also with Sachin Pilot."

Soon, Anirudh tweeted: "Betrayal, learned this word today." Although he did not take his father's name, it is believed the tweet was directed at him.

Captain to remain, Sidhu may find place in XI

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE three-member panel of Congress, formed by interim president Sonia Gandhi to resolve infighting in the Punjab unit, has indicated in it's report submitted on Thursday that Captain Amarinder Singh should not be replaced from the post of chief minister.

The panel feels this is not necessary, with just months to go for Assembly elections. But they also stated that former minister Navjot Singh Sidhu, who is at loggerheads with the CM, should be accommodated, while recommending an organisational revamp.

The panel is headed by Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha, Mallikarjun Kharge. It also includes the paty's Punjab incharge Harish Rawat and former MP JP Aggarwal. Highly-placed sources said their report has recommended that Amarinder should be the chief ministerial face in the elections.

The panel is expected to meet Sonia Gandhi, who is likely to take a call on the matter.

Sources said that despite being a bitter critic of Amarinder, former minister Sidhu should be accommodated in the Cabinet again. His camp is demanding he be made deputy chief minister or state unit president, but Amarinder is against these ideas. The committee has left it for the interim president to decide due to the lack of unanimity.

The issue of inaccessibility of the CM flagged by some MLAs also made it to the report submitted by the panel.

If at all present Punjab Congress president Sunil Jakhar is replaced, then the names of former Union minister and MP from Anandpur, Sahib Manish Tewari, and Punjab Education Minister Vijay Inder Singla will be the favourites to take over. Sources believe they stand a better chance because both are close to Amarinder.

State in-charge Rawat is likely to be replaced on health grounds. The committee has also recommended an organisational revamp to ensure representation from a wider section of the society.

Only 56% of healthcare workers fully vaccinated

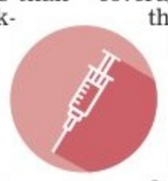
SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

LESS than 60% of healthcare workers in India have been fully vaccinated against Covid-19, nearly five months after a nationwide inoculation drive for them started in mid-January.

The number of healthcare workers in the country is about 1 crore and they are considered most vulnerable. The Union Health and Family Welfare Ministry, in a review meeting on Thursday, said the national average for first dose administration in this category is 82%. For the second, it is only 56%.

In 18 states and Union Territories including Punjab, Maharashtra, Haryana, Tamil Nadu, Delhi and Assam, full vaccination coverage among healthcare workers is lower than the national average.

Apart from that, less than half of the frontline workers — numbering about 2 crore — have received two doses yet. For this priority group, while the national average of first dose coverage is 85%, it is only 47% for the second. There are 19 states and UTs reporting even lower figures than this. Among them are Bihar, Haryana, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Andhra, Telangana, Karnataka, and Punjab.



Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan said low full vaccination for these priority groups was a "serious concern". Universal vaccination coverage and full protection for these groups is crucial to protect healthcare response to the pandemic, Bhushan told states to prepare effective plans for expediting second dose administration.

States were also instructed to dedicate special time slots or sessions for the exercise.

Another worry for the Centre in the ongoing Covid-19 vaccination drive is less than adequate private sector participation. As per the government's coronavirus vaccination policy, 25% of the vaccine stock can be procured by private hospitals but in several states, including Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand, Odisha, West Bengal and Assam, their participation has been negligible owing to the limited presence and their unequal spread.

States were alerted about the new features in the CoWIN portal, incorporated in light of the Cntre's new vaccination guidelines. Now on, rectifications can be done in personal information such as name, year of birth, gender and photo ID number of the card.

POLITICAL TURN

Oppn attacks Nitish for death tally anomalies

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

INCONSISTENCY in the reporting of deaths due to Covid-19 in Bihar has become ammunition for the Opposition to attack the NDA government with. After a recount, it was found that 3,951 deaths were not mentioned in earlier reports. These have now been added to the official tally.

Leader of Opposition Tejashwi Yadav of RJD and Congress spokespersons trained their guns at the government, saying that the actual death tally is still not in public domain. Taking to Twitter on Thursday, Yadav said Chief Minister Nitish Kumar and his government are lying. "Nitish ji, do not lie so much that you end up getting buried under the heap of lies," he tweeted.

Yadav alleged that the state government has been concealing the real number of deaths. "The number of deaths is 20 times higher than what this government is saying. If the Nitish government is fake, its statistics will also be fake," he said in another tweet.

Congress leader Dr Madan Mohan Jha also alleged that more deaths from Covid-19 have occurred, which are not mentioned in the official count.

Sources in the medical fraternity said a huge number of deaths took place in private hospitals and on way to hospitals in rural areas. These were not reported in the official count. Additional Chief Secretary Pratyay Amrit had said on Wednesday action would be taken against the responsible.

Probe in Uttarakhand on Mahakumbh testing data

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

THE Uttarakhand government has ordered an inquiry after discrepancies were found in Covid-19 testing data during Mahakumbh earlier this year.

At least one lakh samples of rapid antigen tests done by a private lab could have been forged, said state health department officials. A preliminary inquiry revealed discrepancies data regarding collection of samples and sending bills to the government.

An official, who was part of the inquiry, said fake entries were made by the lab. This has been reported to higher officials in the government.

A resident of Haridwar, who had not given his sample, received a text message stating that his RT-PCR test had been done. He filed a complaint with the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR). The ICMR intimated the government. That is how this was revealed.

The government had hired nine private labs for testing during Mahakumbh. The deal was ₹354 per test. Till date, over 15.29 lakh tests have been conducted in Haridwar district. Most of these were during the Mahakumbh.

Despite repeated calls.and messages, Health Secretary Amit Negi and District Magistrate of Haridwar, C Ravishankar, were not reachable for a comment on the matter.

Earlier, in a hearing on May 20, the Uttarakhand High Court commenting on Mahakumbh and Char Dham Yatra had said the state was causing embarrassment to its own people and questioned why could it not learn from its mistakes.

Nine from two families die as single-storey structure comes tumbling down in Mumbai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

ELEVEN people, including eight children, died and seven were injured when a residential building collapsed late on Wednesday night in Malwani in the suburbs of Mumbai.

According to the Malwani Police, around 11.10 pm on Wednesday, a single-storey building in a slum in Malwani collapsed onto another building next to it.

Of the casualities, nine are from the family of the building owner Rizwan Siddique and his brother. Siddique lost his wife, brother, sister-in-law and six children from two families. Siddique was injured and is undergoing treatment.

The police said Siddique has been charged under sections 304 (II) (culpable homicide not amounting to murder), 336 (act endangering life or personal safety of others), 337 (causing hurt by act endangering life or personal safety of others), 338 (causing grievous hurt by act endangering life or personal safety of others) and 34 (common intention) of the Indian Penal Code.

"We have registered the case and are waiting to record Siddique's statement who is in hospital at present," said a senior police inspector.

West Bengal BJP divided over call for prez rule

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A division within the West Bengal unit of the BJP over the question of imposing the president's rule in the state has come to the fore in recent days.

While a section of BJP functionaries is in favour of imposing Article 356 in the state citing incidents of post-poll violence, others, including party state unit head Dilip Ghosh, want to strengthen the party's organisation at the grassroots level by organising mass movements.

Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari and three BJP MPs from the state-Nishith Pramanik, Saumitra Khan and Arjun Singh-met the party's central leadership and placed their demand for president's rule in West Bengal.

After meeting Amit Shah, Adhikari said on Tuesday the post-poll violence in West Bengal is much worse than the situation that deserves Article 356 to be imposed in any state.

Meanwhile, Ghosh, addressing a meeting of the party organisation told the party workers to fight against the TMC politically.

Those who are against imposing Article in 356 say it would be a wrong decision. "The ruling party has come to power with massive support of the state's voters. If we derail the government, it would be an insult to people's verdict. Instead of doing this, we should build up movements involving common people at the grassroots level on different issues," said a senior BJP leader.

BJP leader Rajib Banerjee, too, came out against the idea of imposing Article 356 in the state. "Repeated demands for the imposition of presidential rule will not go down well. It will be a foolish act," he said in a social media post.

Another BJP leader, who is close to Ghosh, said, "If we repeatedly demand for Article 356, common people will think that we are power-hungry. Besides, we may receive a blow in the court as well."

Another section within the party is prepared to use all means necessary to get the president's rule imposed, including implementation of the CAA in the state. "West Bengal government will not allow it since Mamata said on a number of occasions that she will never allow the CAA in Bengal. When the state administration will be against the CAA, it can be easily used as a tool to impose Article 356 in Bengal," said a BJP functionary.

Delimitation exercise splits J&K parties

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

WITH the Delimitation Commission writing to Deputy Commissioners of J&K, asking them to share data of voters in their districts and Assembly segments, a division has come to the fore between the BJP and some Jammu-based parties over the process.

The BJP strongly supports using the 2011 census as the basis for the delimitation exercise, while some Jammu-based parties are of the view that the process should not be based on the 2011 census.

"Since the 2011 census is the latest census, the delimitation exercise has to be conducted as per it only," a senior J&K BJP leader said.

Jammu-based leader and Dogra Saddar Sabha president Gurchain Singh Charak said the Delimitation Commission should carry out a proper delimitation exercises to carve out new Assembly and parliamentary constituencies. "Today Jammu is not the old Jammu. Half of Kashmir is living here. They have constructed permanent homes here. The commission should take note of it and not confine itself to 2011 census," he said.

The Delimitation Commission headed by Justice (retd) Ranjana Prakash Desai was formed in March last year to carve out more Assembly and parliamentary constituencies in J&K.

Keep families small, Sarma tells Muslims

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

CALLING upon the minority community to "practise small family size" to reduce poverty, Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Thursday warned of conflicts for living space in future if the population continued to explode.

The statement came against the backdrop of the eviction of 200 encroachers, mostly immigrant Muslims, drawing criticism from some quarters. Urging the minority-based political party AIUDF and All Assam Minority Students' Union to work on population control, Sarma said a day would come when people would settle down on the land of Kamakhya Temple, leading to conflicts. He said his government would take steps to encourage population control. The government stands for the development of all communities but it will need community support, he said.

"To remove poverty, we have to educate Muslim women and control population. We are there to educate women. However, poverty will never get reduced unless you control your population," Sarma said.

Delhi HC refuses to stay movies based on actor Sushant's life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court on Thursday rejected a plea by the father of late actor Sushant Singh Rajput (SSR) to stay the release of films and shows purportedly based on the life and death of the actor.

Sushant's father Krishna Kishore Singh had moved to the Delhi HC earlier this year saying many people were taking advantage of his son's death and that plays, movies, web series, books or other material might be published in the future that would harm the reputation of Sushant and his family.

The court said that if the information of events that have occurred is already in the public domain, one cannot plead any violation of the right to privacy on a movie inspired by such events.

The court noted that Sushant's death was widely covered by the media, and therefore, there was no ground to justify restraining the publication of work that claims to be fictional and only draws inspiration from his life and death.

"The artistic freedom to create fictional works cannot be controlled, limited, or confined within set boundaries. An artist's inspiration can come from any source, and the Court cannot filter real-life events," a bench of Justice Sanjeev Narula said.

However, on the issue of commercial celebrity rights, the court held, "In the opinion of this court, whether commercial celebrity rights, such as personality or publicity rights, would survive or extinguish after the death of the celebrity, requires a deeper probe."

The high court, however, did not prima facie accept Sushant's father's stand that his deceased son had posthumous publicity right.

The court also turned down the father's assertion that he inherited the exclusive right over the life story of his son as an intangible or commercial property or that he had the copyright over the life of SSR.

The court also rejected Rajput's father's plea that films would also violate the right to privacy of the family.

Dalit killed for protesting removal of Ambedkar poster

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A Dalit youth, who was attacked by a group of youths after he questioned the removal of Ambedkar's poster in Rajasthan's Hanumangrah district, has died of his injuries.

According to the police, the deceased, identified as Vinod Bamania, 22, from Kinkralia village was a member of the Bheem Army. He was allegedly attacked by members of the OBC community.

Mukesh, one of Vinod's cousins, said a few days ago, Vinod and some of his friends had celebrated Ambedkar Jayanti and had pasted some posters of the Dalit icon outside his house. Then, a group of men came and started tearing off the poster. This led to a fracas. Later, on June 5, Vinod was attacked. Two days later, he died in a hospital.

According to the Mukesh, on June 5, Vinod and he was going to their farm when a vehicle suddenly stopped near them. Assailants emerged from the vehicle and started attacking them with hockey sticks and lathis.

After receiving a complaint from the victim's family, the police registered a case against the accused. According to the FIR, the accused made casteist comments as they attacked Vinod. The police have arrested two of the four accused, according to Vinod's family.

US to 'supercharge' pandemic fight with huge vax donation

To hand over 500 million doses to 92 poor and lower-middle-income nations | It will be channelled through the Covax programme | Shipping to start in August

WASHINGTON

THE US will donate 500 million Covid-19 vaccine doses to poorer nations, the White House said on Thursday, to "supercharge" the pandemic fight as the World Health Organization warned Europeans not to drop their guard because vaccination levels there remain too low to stop another wave of infections.Both moves signalled that while pockets of the rich world have scored successes against the virus, gains are fragile and billions of mostly poor people remain unprotected.

The United States has faced criticism for sitting on huge stocks of unused vaccines. But with more than 60 percent of Americans having received at least one shot, Washington is moving to reclaim global leadership with the donation of 500 million Pfizer-BioNTech jabs to 92 poor and lower-middle-income nations.

President Joe Biden on Thursday called it a "historic step" in the fight against the global pandemic. "This is about our responsibility, our humanitarian obligation to save as many lives as we can," he told reporters on the eve of the G7 summit in Cornwall, southwest England, adding it was also in the US interest because of the risk of variants.

The American donation will be channelled through the Covax programme, which aims to ensure equitable distribution of vaccines around the world.

'No vax diplomacy'

Dismissing suggestions that it is in a so-called vaccine diplomacy contest with Russia and China, Washington has described its initiatives as a return to multilateral action after the nationalist isolationism under Joe Biden's predecessor Donald Trump

The White House said the doses will start shipping in August, with the first 200 million delivered by the end of the year. Dismissing suggestions that it is in a so-called vaccine diplomacy contest with Russia and China, Washington has described its initiatives as a return to multilateral action after the nationalist isolationism under Donald Trump.

Pressure on rich countries to address the glaring vaccine inequality is growing as their rising levels of immunity allow a gradual return to normal life.

Belgium and France earlier this week resumed indoor dining, while Denmark on Thursday announced the easing of rules on face marks and crowd sizes on the eve of the kick-off for the Euro football competition. "We will be able to do everything that we have missed, because we now have the epidemic under control," Health Minister Magnus Heunicke said. AFP

Allies hope to bond, look beyond virus at G-7 meet

LONDON

THERE will be roundtable meetings, one-on-one chats and a group photo against a picturesque backdrop. When leaders of some of the world's richest nations meet Friday at the English seaside for a three-day Group of Seven summit, much of the choreography will be familiar.

But the world has changed dramatically. Since the G-7 last met two years ago, the coronavirus pandemic has killed more than 3.7 million people and decimated economies with lockdowns and layoffs.

So when British Prime Minister Boris Johnson welcomes US President Joe Biden and the leaders of France, Germany, Italy, Japan and Canada to the cliff-ringed Carbis Bay beach resort in southwest England, pandemic recovery — "building back better," in a phrase both Biden and Johnson like — will top the agenda. Johnson said the meeting would help move on from "a miserable period of competition and squabbling" that marked the early response to the pandemic.

"This is the moment for the world's greatest and most technologically advanced democracies to shoulder their responsibilities and to vaccinate the world, because no one can be properly protected until everyone has been protected," he said in an article published Thursday, a day before the summit's official start.

A woman walks past the G7 media centre in Falmouth, Cornwall, England, ahead of the three-day G7 summit on Thursday | AFP

Before the pandemic, Johnson planned this to be a climate-dominated summit. He had wanted to make it a major staging post to November's international COP26 meeting on climate change in Glasgow, eliciting ambitious targets for slashing carbon emissions and expanding green industries.

That's still on the agenda, but the meeting will be dominated by Covid, with discussions focusing on physical and economic recovery and building resilience against future pandemics.

But this is a nervous global moment, with Russia increasingly destabilizing its neighbors and Biden continuing Trump's strong stance against economic and political rival China. Many in Europe feel that American attention is increasingly focused eastward.

Experts said the meet is "a chance to say 'multilateralism is back,'" but big differences lurk beneath the surface. AP

Northern Ireland casts shadow over first Johnson-Biden meeting

Carbis Bay: Joe Biden and Boris Johnson will hold their first face-to-face meeting on Thursday, during which they will lay the foundations for a new pact, despite Brexit and its consequences in Northern Ireland casting a shadow on the old "special relationship". Biden — on his first overseas tour as US president — and the British Prime Minister are set to agree a modern version of a charter signed by Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt, that set out post-war goals for democracy, trade and opportunity. "The world needs this meeting," Johnson wrote in an article released on Thursday, saying the "time has come to dispel any sense of gloom". The new charter "encompasses science, technology and trade" and "underscores our joint commitment to NATO," Johnson said. But while keen to affirm the long-celebrated partnership, Biden has reportedly ordered US diplomats to scold Johnson over his handling of Brexit and its effects on the Northern Ireland peace process.

Shelling by regime forces kills 10 in Syria

BEIRUT

SYRIAN regime shelling on the opposition-held Idlib enclave killed 10 people Thursday, one of the deadliest violations of a 15-month-old ceasefire, a war monitor said. The incident started with rocket fire near the village of Ablin, which lies around 25 kilometres (15 miles) southwest of the city of Idlib.

The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights said three civilians, including a man, a woman and her child, were killed in the shelling, which occurred near the line separating regime forces from the opposition-held enclave.

A second attack killed seven people who had gathered at the site of the first, said the monitor.

They were all members or affiliates of the Hayat Tahrir al-Sham alliance, a jihadist organisation that includes ex-members of Syria's former Al-Qaeda franchise, the Observatory said. AFP

HONG KONG

Beijing loyalists slammed over Gay Games criticism

Hong Kong: The region's anti-discrimination watchdog slammed two prominent pro-Beijing politicians on Thursday for recent comments warning that next year's Gay Games would "divide the city" and bring "dirty money". The financial hub will host the 11th Gay Games in November 2022, the first time the sporting and cultural event will be held in Asia. The row erupted over a discussion on Wednesday in Hong Kong's legislature, a body that has been recently purged of its pro-democracy minority and is now solely stacked with government loyalists. During the discussion, two prominent pro-Beijing lawmakers -- Priscilla Leung and Junius Ho -- attacked the city's decision to host the Gay Games. "The issue of sex orientation is extremely controversial and could even tear society apart," Leung said. Ho, a notoriously firebrand speaker, said the city did not need "dirty money" brought by the games. AFP

IS claims it gunned down mine-clearing workers

Kabul: The Islamic state affiliate has claimed a horrific attack this week that killed 10 workers of the HALO Trust de-mining organisation and wounded 16 others in Afghanistan's northern Baghlan province. The statement issued late on Wednesday said IS operatives killed and wounded 60 workers 'firing on them with their machine guns.' According to reports from survivors the gunmen were looking for ethnic Hazaras, who in most parts of Afghanistan are Shiite Muslims in mostly Sunni Afghanistan. AP

MYANMAR

Anti-graft body files cases against Suu Kyi

Bangkok: The Anti-Corruption Commission in military-ruled Myanmar has found that ousted leader Aung San Suu Kyi accepted bribes and misused her authority to gain advantageous terms in real estate deals, government-controlled media reported Thursday. Suu Kyi's lawyers already denied the allegations when they were first raised three months ago by the military regime that toppled her elected government in a February coup. The commission's findings come as prosecutors are set to present their case on separate charges against Suu Kyi in court on Monday. Suu Kyi's supporters say all of the charges are politically motivated and an attempt to discredit her and legitimize the military's seizure of power. The coup has been wildly unpopular among Myanmar's people. AP

China passes anti-foreign sanctions law

BEIJING

CHINA on Thursday passed a new law to counter foreign sanctions, as it looks to build its defences against rising US and EU pressure over trade and human rights.

Beijing has accused the United States of "suppressing" Chinese firms and issued veiled threats of retaliation after President Joe Biden last week expanded a blacklist of companies in which Americans are not allowed to invest.

Countermeasures in the Chinese law include "refusal to issue visas, denial of entry, deportation... and sealing, seizing, and freezing property of individuals or businesses that adhere to foreign sanctions against Chinese businesses or officials," according to the text published by the standing committee of the National People's Congress, China's top legislature. The restrictions can apply to family members of individuals who fall foul of Beijing.

The law also allows the country's courts to punish companies that comply with foreign laws, and says that businesses or people in China do not need to comply with foreign restrictions.

"The law aims to firmly safeguard the sovereign dignity and core interests of the country and oppose Western hegemony and power politics," foreign ministry spokesman said.

China has long complained about US sanctions and trade restrictions affecting Chinese companies, calling it an extraterritorial application of US law. AFP

Pope rejects bishop's offer to quit over abuse

ROME

POPE Francis on Thursday rejected an offer by Cardinal Reinhard Marx, a top German bishop, to resign over the mishandling of sexual abuse and cover-up scandals.

"Continue as you propose (in your pastoral work) but as Archbishop of Munich and Freising," the pope wrote to Marx, referring to the position he was offering to vacate.

Marx announced earlier this month that he had offered the pope his resignation over the church's "institutional and systemic failure" in handling child sex abuse scandals.

The stunning decision came after the church in Germany, like in many places elsewhere, was shaken by allegations of wide-ranging abuse by clergymen against minors.

In his letter, the pope agreed with Marx in condemning the "catastrophe" of clerical sexual abuse scandals and the way the Catholic Church dealt with them "until recently". "The entire Church is in crisis because of the abuse issue" and "the Church cannot proceed without tackling this crisis", the pope wrote in his native Spanish.

Lockdowns send retail auto sales diving in May

Sales better in first 9 days of June, but recovery may be slower: FADA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IMPACTED by regional lockdowns, retail auto sales fell 71 per cent in May 2021 to 5,35,855 units as against 18,22,566 units sold in May 2019, data issued by dealer association body Federation of Automobile Dealers' Associations (FADA) showed on Thursday. When compared with April 2021 vehicle registration numbers, retail sales in May were down 55 per cent.

This is the second straight month when the industry is reporting a high double digit slump. In April 2021, when Covid-19 cases had started to peak, retail auto sales had fallen over 28 per cent month-on-month. Unlike other months, there can't be an annual comparison since India was under complete lockdown in May 2020.

FADA President Vinkesh Gulati said, "Apart from urban markets, this time, even rural areas were badly hit. May saw continued lockdown in most of the states. Not surprisingly, Auto Retail for the month witnessed bloodbath as sales fell by -55% on MoM basis."

Segment wise, two-wheeler retail sales in May 21 (over May 19) fell by 71 per cent to 4.10 lakh units while passenger vehicle sales were down by 64 per cent to juts 85,733 units. Month-on-month wise, 2W sales fell by 53 per cent, 3W by 76 per cent, PV by 59 per cent, Tractors by 57 per cent and CV by 66 per cent respectively.

"Since the current lockdown has already lasted well over 30-45 days and is still continuing in South India, revenue for most of the dealers are negligible as there were minimal sales. Due to this, dealers will not be able to repay their loan tranche payment which is getting due," said Gulati.

Going ahead, India's auto industry may witness some relief as Covid-19 cases continue to decline and economic activity is resuming from this month. The first nine days of June have seen better than expected retails due to pent up demand which was there in the system when states started implementing lockdown. If the trend continues, we may see almost similar sales as June 2020, it said.

However, recovery may take much longer time due to the severity of the second wave's impact on the rural economy.

Tatas buy 1MG, foray into e-pharma

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

TATA Sons have forayed into the $1.2 billion e-health space with two recent acquisitions through its subsidiaries Tata Digital and Tata Medical and Diagnostics. Tata Digital on Thursday announced the acquisition of a majority stake in e-pharma start-up 1MG, whereas Tata Medical and Diagnostics has bought a video conferencing solution from a Silicon Valley-based start-up Access Bell for an undisclosed amount. The Tatas may also pick up a stake in hyperlocal delivery platform Dunzo to strengthen their e-commerce game, since the start-up is looking to raise additional funding.

In the e-health space, Tata Digital is now pitted against Reliance which acquired NetMeds for ₹620 crore. Last month, unicorn PharmEasy acquired a smaller player, Medlife, to become the country's largest e-health chain and it is looking to expand its markets after a $320 million investment from Prosus Ventures and TPG Growth.

In a statement, Tata Digital said that the investment in 1MG is "in line with Tata Group's vision of creating a digital ecosystem that addresses the consumer needs across categories in a unified manner". It added that the e-pharmacy, e-diagnostics, and teleconsultation segments are critical to this ecosystem and that they have been amongst the fastest growing segments in the space since they enabled access to healthcare during the pandemic.

According to an analysis from market research firm Redseer, the e-health sector space in India grew at a CAGR of 100 per cent to touch $1.2 billion Gross Merchandise value (GMV) in FY20. Despite supply chain constraints faced during the pandemic, especially for e-diagnostics and medicine delivery verticals, the sector grew by 70 per cent last year.

"We are delighted to join hands with one of India's most iconic and respected conglomerates. This marks a significant milestone in 1MG's journey to make high-quality healthcare products and services accessible to customers," said Prashant Tandon, co-founder and CEO, 1MG.

Incorporated in 2015, 1MG provides online delivery of medicines, health and wellness products, diagnostics services, and teleconsultation to customers. The start-up operates three diagnostics labs and has a supply chain covering over 20,000 pincodes across India. Through its subsidiaries, it also engaged in business-to-business distribution of healthcare products.

Govt to auction unmonetised oil and gas fields of ONGC, OIL: Oil Minister

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE government will auction off unmonetised large oil and gas fields of state-owned oil and gas exploration firms ONGC and OIL to boost the country's hydrocarbon production, according to petroleum minister Dharmendra Pradhan, who was speaking at the launch of the third round of auction of small discovered fields on Thursday. Pradhan added that companies could not indefinitely sit on resources they may have discovered.

As many as 32 oil and gas blocks with 75 discoveries have been offered in the Discovered Small Field (DSF) round-III. These small and marginal fields were discovered by state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) and Oil India Ltd (OIL) but they were not economically viable to be developed due to the fiscal regime and their small size.

Under the DSF policy, liberal terms including pricing and marketing freedom are offered, making the fields under the programme viable.

"There will be no DSF next time. Next time, it will be a 'major' round (auction of large fields)," Pradhan said, adding that the Directorate General of Hydrocarbons (DGH), the oil ministry's technical arm, has the "full mandate" to identify unmonetised major fields that could be offered for bidding.

"Resources don't belong to a company. They belong to the nation and the government. They cannot lie with a company indefinitely. If somebody cannot monetise them, we will have to bring a new regime.

"This 'chalti ka naam gaddi' (something that is just barely working) attitude will now work. We have to take bold decisions," he went on to say, "Idle, unmonetised resources, especially with state-owned companies, need to be monetised."

Pradhan's statement comes weeks after his ministry said India's largest oil and gas producer ONGC to sell a stake in producing oil fields such as Ratna R-Series in western offshore to private firms and get foreign partners in KG basin gas fields.

It may be noted that B-9 field was discovered earlier by ONGC and 3 wells were drilled out of which 2 produced approx. 10 million cubic feet gas per day during testing," the company said in a filing.

LPG consumers to be able to choose desired distributors

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Ministry of Petroleum said on Thursday that LPG consumers will soon be able to choose their desired distributors and that a pilot project to implement the same would be carried out in five cities including Coimbatore and Gurugram.

"It has been decided to allow LPG customers to have a choice deciding which distributors they want their LPG refill from. Consumers will be able to choose their "Delivering Distributor" from the list of distributors catering to their address within their Oil Marketing Company (OMC).In the pilot phase, which will be launched shortly, this unique facility will be available in Chandigarh, Coimbatore, Gurgaon, Pune, and Ranch," the ministry said in a statement.

It further stated that while booking a LPG refill through mobile app/customer portal using their registered login, the customer would be shown the list of delivering distributors along with their performance.

"The customer can opt for any of the distributors from the list applicable for his/her area to get an LPG refill delivery. The service will not only empower the customers by way of enhanced choice, but also inspire healthy competition amongst the distributors to provide the best in class services to the customers and improve their performance ratings," the ministry went on to point out.

TAXATION

GST Council meeting on Saturday for Covid items

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE GST Council is likely to meet on Saturday to discuss the taxation of essential Covid-19 supplies. The meeting will be held after the Group of Ministers (GoM) constituted by the Council to assess tax on Covid essentials submits its report on Tuesday.

The meeting is expected to deliberate exemptions and concessions on Covid-related items, based on the report.

While the committes's report is yet to be made public, sources in the finance ministry claim that there had been no consensus on zero GST on vaccines and say that the matter has been referred back to the Council, which will now take forward the discussions and observations on Saturday.

In the last GST Council meeting on May 28, a GST waiver for COVID-19 vaccines, medicines, medical grade oxygen, pulse oximeters, test kits, hand sanitisers, oxygen therapy equipment, ventilators and other supplies had been on top of the agenda.

With too many dissenting opinions, the finance minister formed a GoM headed by Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad Sangma. But after deliberations, no consensus was reached on the tax rates on vaccines. However, there was general consensus that Covid essentials, including oxymetres, testing kits, PPE kits, medical oxygen should be taxed at 5 per cent.

The Union Government will now procure 75 per cent of all the vaccines produced in the country and provide them to states for free. However, the private procurement of 25 per cent of vaccines would require a payment of 5 per cent Goods and Services Tax.

The GoM includes Gujarat Deputy Chief Minister (CM) Nitinbhai Patel, Maharashtra Deputy CM Ajit Pawar, Goa Transport Minister Mauvin Godinho, Kerala Finance Minister KN Balagopal, Odisha Finance Minister Niranjan Pujari, Telangana Finance Minister T Harish Rao and Uttar Pradesh Finance Minister Suresh Kumar Khanna.

Italy face Turkey test in Euro opener

Former champions Italy are unbeaten in their last 27 games. This record sets Roberto Mancini's men as favourites in the opening encounter against Turkey in Rome on Friday. However, the much-improved Turkish side, who rely on their counter attack, will look to spring an early surprise.

DINGKO'S GREATEST TRIUMPHS WERE OFF THE RING

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

SOMETIMES mastering the art of suffering in silence ends up being the greatest triumph of one's life. Dingko Singh had his successes in the spotlight, but the battle that was his bravest was fought away from it, no frenzied crowd to cheer him on, no referee checking if the blows he took were unfairly thrown. But Dingko never complained. He took his punches and gave them back.

His life, all 42 years of it, was a cauldron of emotions — hope, happiness, hopelessness, and of course, sorrow. In this finite time and space, he was a living embodiment of struggle, always trying to punch back or duck out of the way when fate's cruel fists landed blow after blow. Everything he did or said was always in boxing parlance. He loved boxing because it was the only thing he knew. "I know only boxing," he always said. It is no surprise then that he fought, like a fighter, till the very end.

One thing that will linger on long after his physical self is his jovial nature. He was always cracking jokes. Even after sessions of chemo in 2017 when he was diagnosed with bile duct cancer, he was smiling and looking to the future. Even when he had Covid in between. "Mujhe Olympians nikalna hain (I have to nurture Olympians)".

Dingko's toughest battles were never in the ring. Right from the days when he was left at an orphanage because his parents could not afford to feed him, to the day he breathed his last — fate was his greatest opponent. His rise to Asian Games gold in 1998 was laced with romanticism. However, the travails of being Dingko would perhaps overshadow that feat. Every time he was cornered (literally) — in life or in his short career — he thundered back.

Like his bouts, the rest of Dingko's life too was far from being ordinary. He was not even meant to be there at the 1998 Asian Games. But there he was, winning gold, the first for India in 16 years. An overnight sensation at 19 years of age, he basked in the limelight, loving and absorbing every bit of it like a child. When he faced Thailand's World No 3 Sontaya Wongprates in the semifinal, he had no idea of his opponent's stature. "Maybe if I knew, the outcome would have been different," he once mused.

Just a year later, during the national championships, he hurt his right wrist. It turned out to be a fracture. The Sydney Olympics were a year away but he fought through pain to qualify. He crashed out of the Olympics in the very first round. His lethal right was gone. Until then, he did not realise just how much havoc a loss could wreak on his mind.

Dingko had endured so much pain in life as a child, physical pain never intimidated him when he grew to be a champion. But even for someone as indomitable as him, the damage eventually caught up. "When I was performing, everybody patted me on my back, but when I was injured, no one bothered," he told me in 2002. By then, he was sidelined and was struggling to get into the national team. The wrist never healed. Those were dreary days he always wanted to forget. He was posted in Mumbai in the Navy for quite some time. He hit the bottle to drive away his blues. Like his right hook, this too turned lethal, literally, in the end. But Dingko never gave up. Leading a quiet life, he went to NIS Patiala, got his diploma in boxing and morphed into a coach. On Thursday, away from the spotlight and the din, which every boxer revels in, he quietly faded away from this world.

Man can be destroyed but not defeated, Ernest Hemingway once wrote. Perhaps there is no better epitaph for a man as remarkable as Dingko Singh.

TRIBUTES

He was a rockstar, a legend, a rage. I remember I used to queue up to watch him fight in Manipur. He inspired me. He was my hero. It is a huge loss. He has gone too soon.

MC Mary Kom, India boxing great

May his life's journey & struggle forever remain a source of inspiration for the upcoming generations.

Vijender Singh, India boxing great

Dingko Singh passing away is an irreplaceable loss for Indian Boxing. He was an inspiration to a generation of boxers and his legacy will continue to inspire future generations.

Sania & Ankita to carry India's hopes in Tokyo

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

ONE sport that has typically grabbed headlines — mostly for the wrong reasons — just before recent Olympic Games is tennis. However, this year hasn't seen any of those issues. It is also an indication of the men's doubles team are not even sure of making the cut (cut off is June 14 rankings). Ever since tennis was reincluded into the Olympics programme in 1988, India have always had at least one men's doubles pair in the main draw. As it stands, India's leading doubles specialists by world ranking — Rohan Bopanna (40) and Divij Sharan (74) — have a combined ranking of 114. Is that good enough for the duo to keep the record going?

Zeeshan Ali, who will travel with the team to Tokyo, says they will have to wait and watch. "The cut off is next week. But we don't yet know who are the players (of other teams) that will be going."

One team that will make the trip is Ankita Raina and Sania Mirza. The latter, a former World No 1, has a protected ranking of 9 so they have already qualified. It's also a pair that Ali is quite familiar with, having worked with them during Fed Cup duty a few years ago. "I was actually the coach that suggested that Sania (her earlier partner was Prarthana Thombare) partner with Ankita in the Fed Cup in that time," he told this daily.

LIVE ON STAR SPORTS NETWORK @ 9 PM

Novak Djokovic and Rafael Nadal clash for the 58th time today on the same court where they first met 15 years ago with a place in the French Open final at stake.

Rafa holds edge

Djokovic has spent more weeks at World No 1 than any other player while Nadal has not been out of the top 10 in 16 years. Nadal will start as favourite, buoyed by his record of 105 wins and just two losses in his Roland Garros career. Live on Star Sports Networks @ 9 pm

Battle of young guns

The other semifinal will see a duel between two young guns — Stefanos Tsitsipas vs Alexander Zverev. The former leads the head-to-head record (5-2). The Greel professional also won their only previous meeting on clay in Madrid (2019). However, Tstisipas has never gone beyond last four stage in a Major. Zverev, meanwhile, entered US Open final last year. Live @ 6:20 pm

At long last

Aanastasia Pavlyuchenkova got the better of Tamara Zidansek to reach a first Grand Slam final at the French Open on Thursday at a record 52nd attempt. The 29-year-old beat World 85 Zidansek 7-5, 6-3 and will attempt to clinch her first Major title on Saturday, 14 years after her Grand Slam debut.

The push that WTC cycle needed badly

VIVEK KRISHNAN @Chennai

AS the inaugural cycle of the World Test Championship (WTC) approaches its grand finale with the showdown between India and New Zealand at Southampton from June 18, there is a sense that the championship's future could be determined to a large extent by how the final pans out.

According to a recent International Cricket Council (ICC) release, the WTC final has been inked in the calendar for every two years till 2031. But the format and the seedings for the WTC cycle of 2021-23 is yet to be formalised. To compound matters, ICC chairman Greg Barclay himself conceded — in November last year — that the WTC hasn't quite achieved what it intended to and that the disruption caused by Covid-19 has only highlighted its shortcomings.

The format of the WTC, too, has its critics. With not all teams playing against each other and the number of Test matches in a series varying between two to five, there are suggestions that a tweak may be needed to make it a more level playing field.

Amid these issues, the spectacle that the inaugural final provides as well as the eventual outcome may play a pivotal role in the WTC's future. Past evidence suggests that an Indian win — given the might that the BCCI holds — may go a long way towards dispelling the lingering doubts and making the event a grand success. You only need to turn the clock back to the inaugural World T20 in September 2007, when an initially reluctant India became the epicentre of the shortest version in the space of two weeks following their victory in the final.

Do you own an Amazon smart device? If so, odds are good that the company is already sharing your internet with your neighbours unless you've specifically told it not to. On Tuesday, the company launched a programme that forces users of many Echo smart speakers and Ring security cameras to automatically share a small portion of their home wireless bandwidth with neighbours. The only way to stop it is to turn it off yourself.

Lab-leak suspicions swirl around Covid origins

Experts say speculation based on circumstantial evidence should not distract us from fighting coronavirus, though Wuhan lab-leak theory gains momentum

CONSPIRACY THEORIES

'PLAN-DEMIC THEORY'

This theory supports the view that the virus was deliberately engineered and developed in a lab to cause a pandemic. An ex-secret service officer from Israel Dany Shoham was the first to broach the Wuhan Lab-engineered SARS-CoV-2 theory.

The American far-right has latched on to the preprint of research by Hong Kong scientist Li-Meng Yan who. The preprint said that the virus was modified in the lab, and was not of natural origin

Chinese version of 'Plan-demic theory' is that it was engineered by the US Army at Fort Detrick

ENGINEERED FOR RESEARCH?

1. One theory is that SARS-CoV-2 got leaked after it was engineered as part of "gain-of-function" (GoF) research to further understand drug targets for more virulent viruses, in this case SARS-CoV-2
2. GoF research involves intentionally altering microbes to increase pathogenesis and transmissibility, and identify types of hosts that bacteria/virus can infect. This is meant to aid vaccine & drug R&D

5G NETWORK CONSPIRACY?

Conspiracy theorists in February 2020 used social media groups to spread allegations of a link between the 5G network and Covid-19 spread. They claimed the Wuhan outbreak was caused by electromagnetic fields after the rollout of 5G tech

WHAT IS SUPPORTING WUHAN LAB LEAK THEORY?

- Ongoing research on bats at WIV
- Bats are known to host a range of coronaviruses
- The WIV is a few kilometres from the Huanan wet market where the first Covid-19 cluster was detected in November 2019
- Lab leak theory gained prominence this year after science writer Nicholas Wade's essay on the subject
- The idea has gotten momentum after US President Joe Biden called for a detailed probe into the lab leak theory
- Biden's call was based on the US government's Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, which conducted a study in May 2020, stating that the hypothesis of virus leak from the Wuhan lab was plausible and needs to be investigated thoroughly

SCIENCE

IS SARS-CoV-2 of natural origin or is it engineered? This is the question haunting not just scientists but people around the world that has fuelled conspiracy theories.

Lately, the hypothesis that the SARS-CoV-2 virus, which causes Covid-19, had leaked from the lab of the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV), in Wuhan, the capital of Central China's Hubei province, is gaining ground, albeit without credible scientific evidence to show. However, speculation and theories continue.

The original one was that China was in the midst of producing bioweapons to target enemy populations, and this gained ground — at least in the minds of people — considering that the USA and India are number 1 and 2 countries that are most affected by the pandemic. And both the countries are prominent members of the Quad, along with Australia and Japan. China has been vehemently criticising this as a military alliance aimed at containing its maritime influence in the Asian region.

FURIN CLEAVAGE

Proponents of the lab-leak theory focus on part of the spike protein of the coronavirus that makes the pathogen more dangerous to humans: the furin cleavage site

A counter-charge has also been fired by China at the USA last year saying that, in 2003, the latter had engineered the original SARS virus to target China.

However, one theory that is not so much a conspiracy theory, is that of an unintentional leak after the virus was engineered as part of 'gain-of-function' (GoF) research to further understand drug targets for more virulent viruses, in this case SARS-CoV-2. GoF research involves intentionally altering microbes to increase pathogenesis and transmissibility and identify types of hosts that bacteria/virus can infect. This aims at improved predictions of emerging infectious diseases and developing vaccines and therapeutics.

The SARS-CoV-2 is known to be genetically closest to a virus called RATG13, which is also from the family of coronaviruses and was discovered first in horseshoe bats (Rhinolophus affinis), in 2013 in the Yunnan province in South China.

Researchers found that the genome of RATG13 is 96 per cent identical to the SARS-CoV-2 virus, which has so ferociously afflicted the humans through a pandemic that has lasted over one-and-a-half years. One of the differences expressed was that RATG13 did not target the angiotensin-converting enzyme 2 (ACE2) receptors in the human cells, like SARS-CoV-2 does so lethally to enter human cells.

This lethal factor in SARS-CoV-2 went on to infect humans to claim 37.64 lakh lives and affect 17.48 crore people across the world.

An Oxford study has lately found that bats were not sold in the wet markets of Wuhan, although research on bats was being conducted at the WIV.

Was it bioengineering or natural mutation that provided SARS-CoV-2 its lethal virulence? Then there is the question whether it was a leak from the lab that led the virus into the general population; and if it was, whether it was intentionally done.

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

Viruses are known to evolve fast. The variations in the furin cleavage site in the spike protein of the SARS-CoV-2, is the one in question that has made the virus so deadly, and with so many variants. This cleavage in the protein is the virus' key to latch on to the human cells and infect them.

Last year, in January, a group of Indian researchers from IIT Delhi discovered that SARS-CoV-2's spike protein had as many as four genetic insertions, which they said would be naturally impossible, indicating that the virus had been engineered to be more lethal than its fellow-viruses in the coronavirus family.

However, that was not conclusively proved, and remained a speculation as the preprint of the paper was withdrawn.

Experts say fighting the virus and whether China has played mischief should be taken as two different issues, with focus on the former as priority in the health realm for the safety of mankind. The latter is in the realm of international politics and should be dealt with through a thorough probe followed with appropriate actions depending on whether the virus leak was intentional or not.

In the realm of the former, there are developments taking place. Scientists at the US Department of Energy's (DOE) Brookhaven National Laboratory have published the first detailed atomic-level model of the SARS-CoV-2 "envelope" protein bound to a human protein essential for maintaining the lining of the lungs. The model showing how the two proteins interact has been published in the journal Nature Communications in June first week. It explains how the virus could cause extensive lung damage and escape the lungs to infect other organs in especially vulnerable COVID-19 patients. The findings can accelerate the search for drugs to block the most severe effects of the disease.

A study by a group of researchers from Georgia State University, Atlanta, USA, has evaluated the impact of exposure to framed messages about origins of COVID-19. They tested four hypotheses. Two focussed on whether it was of zoonotic origin or human-engineered, and two on impacts of beliefs on the origin and the desire to penalize China or support increased funding for biomedical research. The study concluded highlighting the importance of finding ways to combat the spread of misinformation and conspiracy theories related to this global pandemic.

"The spread of the COVID-19 virus has been an accompanying epidemic of misinformation, eroding trust in science and misleading individuals about the most effective precautions to take to quell the virus and ensure safety," the study says. Nirad Mudur

Scientists hail golden age of tracing bird migration, envision an 'internet of animals'

SCIENCE

MARYLAND: A plump robin wearing a tiny metal backpack with an antenna hops around a suburban yard in Takoma Park, then plucks a cicada from the ground for a snack.Ecologist Emily Williams watches through binoculars from behind a bush. On this clear spring day, she's snooping on his dating life. "Now I'm watching to see whether he's found a mate," she said, scrutinizing his interactions with another robin in a nearby tree. Once the bird moves on at season's end, she'll rely on the backpack to beam frequent location data to the Argos satellite, then back to Williams' laptop, to track it.

The goal is to unravel why some American robins migrate long distances, but others do not. With more precise information about nesting success and conditions in breeding and wintering grounds, "we should be able to tell the relative roles of genetics versus the environment in shaping why birds migrate," said Williams, who is based at Georgetown University.

Putting beacons on birds is not novel. But a new antenna on the International Space Station and receptors on the Argos satellite, plus the shrinking size of tracking chips and batteries, are allowing scientists to remotely monitor songbird movements in much greater detail than ever before.

"We're in a sort of golden age for bird research," said Adriaan Dokter, an ecologist at Cornell University who is not directly involved with Williams' study. "It's pretty amazing that we can satellite-track a robin with smaller and smaller chips. Ten years ago, that was unthinkable."

The device this robin is wearing can give precise locations, within about about 10 meters, instead of around 200 km for previous generations of tags.

That means Williams can tell not only whether the bird is still in the city, but on which street or backyard. Or whether it's flown from the Washington, D.C., suburbs to land on the White House lawn.

A second new tag, for only the heaviest robins, includes an accelerometer to provide information about the bird's movements; future versions may also measure humidity and barometric pressure. These Icarus tags work with a new antenna on the International Space Station.

That antenna was first turned on about two years ago, "but there were some glitches with the power-supply and the computer, so we had to bring it down again with a Russian rocket, then transport it from Moscow to Germany to fix it," said Martin Wikelski, director of the Max Planck Institute of Animal Behavior, whose scientific team is honing the technology.

Lebanon to halt kidney dialysis

MEDICINE

Hospitals in Lebanon warned Thursday they may be forced to suspend kidney dialysis next week due to severe shortages in supplies, the latest in Lebanon's accelerating crises and collapsing health sector. Lebanon is grappling with an unprecedented economic and financial crisis.

The once-thriving health care system has been among the hardest hit, with some hospitals halting elective surgeries, and doctors warning in recent days that they may even run out of anesthesia. Doctors said they may be forced to suspend kidney dialysis next, blaming shortages on a dispute between importers and the Central Bank over subsidies. "It is a crime against humanity," said George Ghanem, chief medical officer at a top Lebanese hospital.

Antibodies get stronger after jab

RESEARCH

LUCKNOW: An antibody test, done on 989 KGMU healthcare workers and about 500 plasma donors by the King George's Medical University (KGMU), has found antibodies formed after vaccination were stronger and lasted longer, whereas those generated after infection fizzled out in less than four months.

The study further found that the desirable herd immunity which can break the chain of virus, can only be achieved by mass vaccination and not through natural course of transmission of infection. In the two-part study, in which the 989 healthcare workers included class four employees, junior doctors, staff and senior faculty members, 869 (88%) had antibodies.
